Dominion Takes Over Operation North Airports

Canada is now accepting the main responsibility for operation and maintenance of airports along the Northwest Staging Route from Edmonton to the border of Alaska, Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., C.B., special Canadian commissioner for Northwest defence projects, said Wednesday.

Letting of contracts for work on the $5,000,000 airport improvement program at Edmonton, and three other fields of the Northwest Staging Route of the R.C.A.F. is now under consideration by government officials at Ottawa and announcement of awards will likely be made within the next few days.

Gen. Foster has just returned from the Pacific coast where he conferred with Premier John Hart of British Columbia and Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson, C.B., on matters arising out of airport operations in the Northwest.

Of the $5,000,000 to be spent by the Dominion government on the airports, $1,250,000 is to go for improvements at the Edmonton municipal field.

Other airports figuring in the program are: Grande Patrie, Fort Nelson and Watson Lake.

TO START SOON

Work will commence as soon as weather and ground conditions are favorable and it is planned to have the program completed by fall.

All work will be done by Canadian contractors.

Nazi Supply Lines Battered in Italy

By REYNOLDS PACKARD
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

NAPLES, April 12.—Allied warplanes bombed and burned German communication lines across the centre of the Italian boot from dawn to dusk yesterday and R.A.F. night raiders followed through in the early morning hours today to keep A.R.A.F.-Canadian blockbuster assault on the Montalcone submarine and torpedo boat yards in northern Italy.

The intensified aerial bombardment, further impairing the battered lines of supply for the Nazi armies in the south, coincides with a violent upsurge of patrol fighting and artillery duels on the land fronts below Rome.

A communique reported that German and Allied artillery traded heavy blows on the Anzio beachhead and in the Cassino area, accompanied by increasingly bitter patrol clashes.

No important changes in the opposing battle lines were reported, but it was indicated that both sides were preparing for another major effort on the beachhead and on the main 5th Army front.

Draft Pasteurizer: Many Go Milkless

LIVERPOOL, N.S., April 12.—(CP)—Hundreds of families were without milk here yesterday. The operator of pasteurizing machinery at Pasteurized Dairy Products, Limited, was called up for military service, and because of lack of experienced help the plant was shut down.

Until a replacement is made by selective service officials the plant, by special permission of the provincial department of health, will distribute milk which will be largely bottled as received.

OTTAWA, April 12.—(CP)—Selective service officials said here today that they had requested "full particulars" in connection with the closing down of Pasteurized Dairy Products, Limited, Liverpool, N.S., because of lack of experienced help when the operator of pasteurizing machinery was called up for military service.

Liberators Raid Kurile Islands

WASHINGTON, April 12—(BUP)—U.S. Army Liberators operating from Aleutian bases bombed the Kurile Islands north of Japan on Monday, said a U.S. Navy department announcement issued today.

Red Cross Total

CALGARY, April 12. — (CP) — With practically all reports received at provincial headquarters, Alberta's total in the recent Red Cross drive has risen to $710,481.02, more than $500,000 above the $400,000 objective.

Report Hitler To Ask Japan For Assistance

LONDON, April 12.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler has summoned a conference of Axis powers at which Japan will be asked what "immediate effective assistance she is able to offer Germany," the Bern newspaper Der Bund said yesterday in an article reported to Reuters.

Other topics on the agenda were listed as:

1—Organization of the total mobilization of human and material reserves of all European countries.

2—Examination whether the German army can withdraw troops from France, Norway, Italy, Croatia, Holland and Denmark for use on other fronts.

Those called to Berchtesgaden, the article said, included Benito Mussolini, the Japanese ambassador to Berlin, and several of Hitler's puppet premiers, including Antonescu of Rumania, Laval of France, Quisling of Norway, Pavelic of Croatia and Hacha of Bohemia and Moravia.

Halt Deliveries

Packing Plants Are Jammed by Influx of Hogs

A heavy influx of hogs to the Edmonton stockyards Wednesday morning caused a plugging of facilities, and officials declared they would not be able to accept any more shipments until further notice.

Wednesday morning shipments increased to almost double those of normal times, after increasing steadily all week. S. Sheppard, Dominion senior livestock grader, said the situation had arisen from the lifting of the highway bans combined with the serious shortage of labor in city packing plants.

AN EMERGENCY

Officials are notifying farmers that it is an emergency situation and they can accept no more shipments for the time being, but hope to be able to cope with the situation within the next few days. Mr. Sheppard said, "The farmers will realize if they will be their advantage to co-operate with us and regulate shipments."

All packing plants have at the present time, more hogs than they

More Beef Going To Great Britain

OTTAWA, April 12.—(CP)—About 30,000,000 pounds of Canadian beef have been shipped to the United Kingdom in the last few months and the movement of all meats overseas has become more free recently, it was learned today.

Canadian Meat Board purchases of bacon for the United Kingdom were about 275,000,000 pounds in the first three months of this year, and it was learned that the improved shipping situation has facilitated the movement of such stocks out of the Dominion.

Under an agreement covering two years, signed last fall, Canada agreed to ship not less than 900,000,000 pounds of bacon in 1944 and 1945.

Officials said today that the rate of Meat Board purchases indicated that the minimum provided in the contract for the first year at least would be far surpassed. The purchases already made are more than half the total required to meet the minimum requirements for 1944.

Says No Increase In Federal Taxes Likely This Year

REGINA, April 12.—(CP)—No increase in Federal taxation is anticipated by D. A. McNiven, M.P. for Regina, when the Dominion budget is brought down in the House of Commons by Finance Minister James L. Ilsley, he said.

"I expect there will be some levelling out and adjustment in the present rate of taxation. The budget should be introduced in the House before June 1 as the defence ministers have completed their war estimates and the estimate brought in by Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, are well advanced," said Mr. McNiven.

Three Children Burned to Death In Wabamun Fire

Three children, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rosland, Wabamun, were burned to death about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, when fire swept through their home, trapping them in the upper part of the house, while their mother, unable to save them, stood nearby.

The dead children are Chester, five years old; Gilbert, two, and Bruce, one.

Three other children, Noel, nine; Donald, six; Hazel, seven, escaped the flames which destroyed their home and all contents.

A seventh child, Molly, 11, was outside the house with her mother, at the time the blaze broke out.

Mrs. Rosland had left the house briefly, accompanied by her eldest daughter to search for Clifford, 10, who had been doing some chores for a neighbor, and she was worried that he had not returned before the 9 p.m. curfew.

When she returned she found the house in flames. The three children who had been in the downstairs part of the house were forced out by the flames. Mrs. Rosland's screams aroused the neighbors and villagers but the house was burned to the ground and nothing could be done to save the children.

Stiff Resistance

Japs in Imphal, Kohima Areas Are Now Halted

NEW DELHI, April 12—Stiffening British resistance has at least temporarily stalled the Japanese invasion of India in the Imphal and Kohima areas, a communique said today, while British and Indian commando forces in central Burma gained further ground in their drive on the big enemy base at Myitkyina.

An Allied communique reported that Japanese attacks on Kohima slackened yesterday and British units were striking out to the northwest to clear enemy snipers from the highway running from Kohima to Dinapur.

Sixty miles to the south, advanced elements of three Japanese columns moving on Imphal from the north, east, southeast and southwest were held in check by British patrols operating in the hills bordering the Imphal plain.

SIZE OF JAP FORCE

(London dispatches estimated that the Japanese had sent three full divisions—30,000 to 45,000 men—into India, leaving a similar number of combat troops in Burma. The monsoon rains next month, are expected to halt all major operations before the enemy could achieve a decisive victory in either Burma or India, observers in the British capital said.)

Italo King to Step Aside On Day That Rome Falls

By ELEANOR PACKARD

NAPLES, April 12.—King Victor Emmanuel, after a reign of 43 years as King of Italy, announced in a broadcast today that he will withdraw from public affairs the day Rome falls in favor of his son, Crown Prince Humbert.

"This decision, which I and my family believe furthers national unity, is final and irrevocable," the king said.

The 73-year-old monarch explained that upon his retirement he will set up a lieutenant-generalcy under the crown price to carry on the duties of the Royal House of Savoy.

The announcement followed two days of discussion between representatives of the royal family, members of the government under Marshal Pietro Badoglio and officials of the Allied advisory council, which had expressed a desire to see "the democratization of the Italian government."

MAY ENTER PARLIAMENT

As a result of the king's proclamation, the junta of six Liberal and Leftist parties may enter the cabinet to form a war government.

Gallantry of Albertans Revealed in Citations

Particulars of the citations covering the awards of decorations for valour to six Alberta officers and N.C.O.'s in action with the Canadian Army in Italy announced March 16 were released today by National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa.

The citations cover the award of a bar to the Distinguished Service Order to Brigadier J. C. Jefferson, D.S.O., of 11319 79 street, Edmonton; award of the Military Cross to Capt. (A.-Major) J. R. Stone of Blueberry Mountain, Capt. (A.-Major) W. deN Watson of Banff and Lt. (A.-Capt.) D. S. Harley of 1118 Riverdale avenue, Calgary, and award of the Military Medal to A.-Sgt. J. E. W. Dick of Edmonton and A.-Sgt. G. A. Campion of Tofield.

Following are the citations:

BRIG. J. C. JEFFERSON, D.S.O. AND BAR, E.D.

Brig. Jefferson's Regiment had begun their attack on the vital and strongly held fortress of Ortona on Dec. 20, 1943, and by 18:00 hours on Dec. 23, after fierce and costly street fighting, "B" Company had penetrated to the centre of the town to the "Esplanda," while "A" Company had fought their way as far as the second square in the town.

Here, the advance was temporarily halted. The enemy, anxious to retain control of the exits from the town to the northwest, put up a desperate and obstinate resistance and for 24 hours a grim and bloody

Sask. C.C.F. Leader Demands Election

SASKATOON, April 12.—(CP)—T. C. Douglas, C.C.F. provincial leader, in an address here last night called on Premier W. J. Patterson to hold a Saskatchewan election before July 10.

"I wish to warn Premier Patterson that if he does not intend to hold an election this year there are provisions under the constitution to protect people against dictatorship and tyranny."

Mr. Douglas referred to a Regina report that in the event of an invasion of western Europe, with possible heavy Canadian casualties, there might not necessarily be an election this year.

"I cannot imagine anything more contemptuous than to use the fact that our boys may be in action, to keep their parents a minute longer under the rule of a discredited government."

Maj.-Gen. Pearkes Warns:

Canadians "Living in Fool's Paradise" If They Think Invasion Won't Be Costly

CALGARY, April 12—(CP)—Canadians are "living in a fool's paradise" if they think the storming of the fortress of Europe will be any less costly than it was to the "gallant forlorn" of the Peninsula Wars, Maj. - Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., officer commanding the Pacific command, said here last night in addressing the annual Vimy dinner of the Alberta Military Institute.

He pleaded with members of the institute to urge more manpower to support Canada's overseas army.

"We are to storm the fortress of Europe. Our leaders have told us that this year we must be on the road to victory. But we are living in a fool's paradise if we think that storming the fortress of Europe will be any less costly than it was to the 'gallant forlorn' of the peninsula wars," declared Pearkes.

MAJ.-GEN. G. R. PEARKES, V.C.

"It is not now or never," he said, "it is now or after a long period of additional suffering.

"Fifty per cent. acceptance of duty is not enough. It must be 100 per cent., and 100 per cent. means that every young man of our country must join his comrades overseas," emphasized the veteran Calgary soldier, former commander of Military District No. 13 and later in command of a Canadian division overseas, as he urged that there be no return to the complacency that bogged down the empire's armies in the early days of the war.

"The United Nations, the British Empire, Canada, Alberta, must be ready to make an all-out effort, must be prepared to make sacrifices, must be prepared for heavy casualties," he said.

"There are many young men who are not volunteering to go overseas. They are being told that they have done their duty by serving two

MOSCOW, April 12.—Red armies are sweeping through the Crimea at a pace promising its complete liberation in a matter of days after winning the bulk of its northern quarter and half the Kerch peninsula in a lightning campaign, Soviet front dispatches said today.

Reports from the Black Sea front said there was no sign that the estimated 150,000 Germans and Romanians in the Crimea had the heart for a fight like the famous Russian stand at Sevastopol despite a purported order by Adolf Hitler to hold the peninsula at all cost.

Other military dispatches reported that Soviet troops who reached the Czechoslovak frontier had captured half a dozen towns described as "actually the key to the heart of the Carpathians" and hinted that Russian mountain climbers had penetrated the passes leading down to the Hungarian plain.

B.C. Liberals Endorse Public Power Scheme

VANCOUVER, April 12— (CP) —Presaging the advent of public control of utilities in the province, delegates of all B.C. hydro-electric development in the province was endorsed by delegates to the annual convention of the B.C. Liberal Association here yesterday.

A resolution passed by the conference urged the taking over of all production of hydro-electric power in the province.

Pensions Minister Mackenzie, addressing the conference, said that Canada's war effort is the finest answer the Liberal party can give to the electorate desirous of an accounting of stewardship when the next election loons.

The conference passed a resolution urging the Dominion government to prohibit future settlement of Japanese in the province and employment of Japanese in the post-war period, to expel all Japanese from Canada at the end of the war.

Nebraska Primary Won by Stassen

OMAHA, April 12.—(AP)—Lieut. Cmdr. Harold E. Stassen apparently won the Nebraska Republican presidential preferential primary yesterday, after an exceptionally strong write-in vote for Thomas E. Dewey of New York, on the basis of returns today from more than a fourth of the state's precincts.

Returns from 610 of 2,031 precincts gave Stassen 13,767. At the same time Dewey had 6,024 Wendell Willkie, whose name was on the ballot despite his withdrawal, got 1,905 votes.

In Illinois, Gen. Douglas MacArthur maintained a healthy lead in early returns from the Republican presidential preference primary, and kept pace in the popular count with G.O.P. candidates for state office.

LONDON, April 12.—American air forces swung the main weight of a record aerial offensive southward against German aircraft plants in Austria today with Italy-based heavy bombers striking in great strength at the Wiener Neustadt area south of Vienna.

Formidable fleets of Flying Fortresses and Liberators hammered three Messerschmitt factories clustered around Wiener Neustadt and blasted vital targets at Zagreb and Split, Yugoslavia.

Fallow Says

Telephone Dept. Will Take Over Radio Station

Operations of radio station CKUA, now controlled by the University of Alberta, are to be transferred to the Alberta Government Telephones, it was announced Wednesday by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of railways and telephones.

Hitherto, while the radio station has been owned by the government, it has been operated by the university, funds being provided for this purpose by the government. Under the new set-up, the telephone system will take over the radio station plant.

It is planned to name a program manager for the station, who will be responsible to the telephones department, Mr. Fallow stated.

He added that the government hopes to obtain a commercial broadcasting license for CKUA from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, pointing out that two radio stations in Manitoba, one at Brandon and the other at Winnipeg, are owned by Manitoba provincial telephone system, and have commercial licenses.

"There is no intention of making use of the station for political propaganda purposes," said Mr. Fallow. He said the university will continue to have its usual time on the station's programs, and that facilities would continue to be used extensively by provincial government departments, such as agriculture, education, and lands and mines. The government is hopeful of keeping the station operating the year round.

It was understood that expansion of the station's equipment would not be necessary as considerable installations were made some time ago.

To date, no actual transfer of the station to the telephone system has been made, it was learned. However, telephone officials have inspected the plant and its equipment.

British Miners Return to Work

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—The strike over "home coal" grievance has ended and there was a general resumption of work in the Yorkshire coal fields today. Every pit in the Barnsley area was working and in most instances there was normal attendance after the holiday break.

Representatives of Yorkshire coal owners and mine workers are to meet at Sheffield Friday to discuss anomalies created by the Porter award giving underground workers a weekly wage of £5 (about $22.50).

New Measures Against Eire Are Expected

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

LONDON, April 12.—(AP)—Stringent new steps to isolate Eire from the rest of the world as a potential peeping-post for Axis agents are expected in the light of Allied determination to pursue a policy of safety first in dealing with the neutral nations, it was learned last night.

Although official quarters are silent on the next move, it is likely pressure restrictions on travel and communications between Britain and Ireland will be made even tighter until perhaps even be accompanied by a virtual blockade as invasion day approaches.

Each step is being weighed gravely to prevent bruising the feelings of neutral nations wherever possible but the basic policy in that field is to be dictated by the desire to prevent a waste of lives.

Such a policy was emphasized in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Churchill in discussing the closing of the Irish border and was reiterated by Secretary of State Hull in his radio address Sunday.

If Eire persists in her refusal to end diplomatic relations with the Axis, it is logical to assume that the Allies, now that they have mended most of potential outlets for espionage, will go a step further and plug the places of possible espionage which remain.

Dominion Takes Over Operation North Airports

dian contractors and Canadian Labor General Foster said.

At the Edmonton municipal airport work to be done consists chiefly of laying heavier runways, so that the "heaviest planes may utilize the port."

Runways here will be strengthened where needed by an additional three inches of hard surfacing material. Greatest thickness of this hard surface is about three inches. The surface will now be increased to six inches.

At other ports along the route additional hard surfacing will also be carried out, while other facilities will be installed too.

"All work must be planned so there will be no interruption of the traffic now moving over the route," General Foster said.

Homer P. Keith, recently appointed engineer in charge of the airport work, has opened offices in the Tegler Building. Mr. Keith is a former deputy minister of public works in Alberta.

The U.S. government is also doing improvement work on airfields at Fort St. John and Whitehorse. This work had been started before the dominion government appropriation for the other airports.

"The project is really a rounding out of work on the major airports of the route," Gen. Foster said.

Carrying out this summer's program will be a co-operative proposition between the Dominion department of transport and the United States Army Engineering Services, with General Foster, as special Canadian commissioner, being the chief co-ordinating officer.

Other agencies closely involved are: The R.C.A.F., the U.S.A.A.F., the North Northwest Service Command of the U.S. Army.

Air Vice-Marshal Stevenson, as commanding officer of Western Air Command, R.C.A.F., has the Northwest Staging Route under his overall command. Group Captain H. L. Patriarche, A.F.C., is in direct command of the route with headquarters at Edmonton.

Dominion department of transport supplies services for the route with the R.C.A.F. in charge of operations.

Appointment of Mr. Keith as engineer in charge and establishment of his headquarters here marks a new step in department of transport operations. Formerly department of transport operations in connection with the Northwest Staging Route were directed from Lethbridge.

General Foster addressed the Vancouver Board of Trade and the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce while at the coast on operations in the Canadian Northwest.

"I was greatly impressed by the keen interest in the northwest shown by the people of B.C." the general said, adding that there now seems no sign of jealousy over the choice of the Alaska Highway route or aerial routes.

It has been generally realized that the projects were planned as they were for sound military reasons, he said.

He will attend the opening of the oil refinery at Whitehorse on April 30 as the official Canadian representative, according to present plans.

Claim Ribbentrop Had Wine Business In United States

NEW YORK, April 12—(AP)—The New York Herald Tribune says in a copyrighted article that Joachim Ribbentrop, German foreign minister and former champagne salesman, secretly operated a wine business in the United States until his venture was seized by the alien property custodian in September, 1943.

Two agents of Ribbentrop's Henkell and company, a German wine firm, purchased in August, 1937, for $182,250, a controlling interest in the American wine company, with headquarters in St. Louis, the Herald Tribune says.

Various steps were taken to cover the firm's German connections, the paper said. But Leo. T. Crowley, alien property custodian, seized the company on Sept. 8, 1943, and sold its 235,000 Ribbentrop-owned shares for $350,000 to two American citizens, Samuel Lentz and Malcolm Woldenberg, of Newark, N.J.

of fast on the railroad to Pasecani.

(The German high command reported that German and Rumanian forces further disengaged themselves to positions farther south" in the northern Crimea.)

Military quarters reported that the pincers drive into the Crimea was sweeping the defenders backward "like chaff" except in the tough Ishun hills positions before the central plains, which had been by-passed by the columns striking across the Sivash sea to Dzhankoi, rail junction controlling all lines in the northern Crimea.

DEFENCES OVER-RUN

By yesterday morning, field reports said, all the basic defences of the Prekop isthmus and the Sivash coast had been overrun, and the Russians swept out of the Steppes through Dzhankoi.

The capture of Kerch and conquest of the eastern end of the Crimea peninsula was described as an equally brilliant feat.

Captured German documents revealed that the Nazi command had declared Kerch fortifications were "impregnable." A Soviet encirclement threat forced the defenders to abandon the town and fall back to the west.

The northern drive reaching up to 71 miles split the Axis garrison with the capture of Dzhankoi.

can handle and have also declared they can accept no more for the present. Officials are asking shippers to contact them before making any further shipments so as to regulate the flow.

SEEK SOLUTION

Employment officials met representatives of packing plants in Edmonton Tuesday in an effort to find some solution to the serious labor shortage in the plants. Local plants need 700 workers within the next four to six weeks to handle the rush of livestock as this is their busiest season of the year.

Employment officials state they see no possibility of securing these workers as there is no available source of men. A few laborers are being sent to plants daily but these are men who happen to turn up daily, and are not numerous enough to offer any relief to the situation.

Employment officers are attempting to obtain evidence on the Drumheller area who have been laid off from mines in that district. Tentative arrangements are also being made to bring in Indians from the Wintertarn reserve for temporary work in the plants.

The labor shortage is more acute in the plants than ever before. Last year at this time local employment officials were able to obtain enough workers to meet the demand.

49 Known Dead As Storms Lash United States

NEW YORK, April 12—(AP)—Storms which battered most of the United States the last two days leaving 49 persons known dead subsided today after a final swing at the eastern seaboard and the Great Lakes area.

Nearly 200 persons were injured in tornadoes, rain squalls, wind storms and snow storms from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic ocean. Lighter rains extended west to California.

Many remained homeless in Kansas and Oklahoma as rivers continued flooding in the wake of torrential rains. A forecast of clear and colder weather promised some relief, but several streams had not reached predicted crests.

WORST IN ARKANSAS

Arkansas, with 35 dead in a series of tornadoes, was the worst sufferer. Six were killed in Fort Wayne, Ind., by a wall blown over by a high wind. North Carolina, Alabama, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Kentucky, Georgia and Tennessee each reported one death directly due to lightning or wind.

Snowplow crews who fought for 36 hours to reach 22 motorists stranded high in the Colorado Rockies at Berthoud Pass by snow avalanches succeeded last night in opening a path to the inn where the victims had taken refuge.

Michigan and South Carolina were lashed by windstorms. A 60-mile-an-hour gale, describe as the heaviest in nearly four years, battered many points along Lake Michigan, and in some localities tore ships from moorings.

A tornado struck near Walhalla, S.C., killing one woman and severing power lines.

Italo King Will Step Aside on Day Rome Falls

The junta previously had held out for the king's immediate retirement but was expected to accept the compromise in view of his public statement.

Following the king's address, an official spokesman of the Badoglio government said there were three outstanding points in the declaration.

"First, the declaration is spontaneous on the part of his majesty," the spokesman said.

"Second, that his majesty has decided to make a statement at this time in order to eliminate any obstacles that might still exist in efforts by various political parties to reach full co-operation with the Italian government."

"Third, the king's statement is directed to all parties without exception in behalf of the efforts of the entire nation to achieve true national unity."

LEAVES AN OPENING

Italian observers pointed out that the king did not use the word "abdication" and said these phrase "withdraw from public affairs" apparently left an opening for him to resume his kingly prerogative if a popular movement should support him after he war.

Count Carlo Sforza, former Italian foreign minister, said the king's retirement would help unite Italians and suggested that other high officials should follow his example.

Committal Warrant Is Issued by Judge In Larceny Case

VICTORIA, April 12.—(CP)—A warrant of committal was made by Judge H. H. Shrumley in county court here yesterday when Alexander D. Hume, alias Douglas Horne, alias Ralph M. Wilby, wanted in New York City on 17 grand larceny charges said to involve $225,000, appeared before him.

He waived evidence and will be forwarded to the minister of justice at Ottawa, upon whom rests the responsibility for the actual order of extradition.

In the meantime the committed man cannot be taken out of Canada for 15 days and during this time he has the opportunity to apply for a writ of habeas corpus, in effect a form of appeal on technical grounds.

Chaloult Says French Treated With Contempt

QUEBEC, April 12. — (CP) — Rene Chaloult, Nationalist member of the Quebec legislature for Lotbiniere, yesterday told the legislative assembly that "never, under any political regime since 1907, has the French-speaking population been treated with as much cynicism and contempt in all spheres as now."

Speaking on his motion for the production of correspondence between provincial and federal authorities about "a more equitable treatment of the French minority in Canada, in the army, in the war plants and in the civil service," he added:

GET FEW POSITIONS

"According to the population of Canada, French-Canadians are entitled to 30 per cent of the federal positions and salaries. However, we do not get five per cent of them.

"I do not blame English-speaking leaders if French-Canadians are not treated with as much cynicism and contempt in all spheres.

"I do not blame English-speaking leaders if French-Canadians are not treated the way they should be in the civil service, war industries and armed forces if to blame French-Canadians who hold responsible positions and do not have the courage to claim their own rights."

The debate was adjourned shortly after members resumed sitting last night after Francois Leduc (Lib.-Laval) said that Mr. Chaloult was "unfair" in his criticism. For instance, he added, four of the six new ambassadors recently appointed by Canada are French-Canadian.

CARRIED 35 TO 14

The motion for adjournment of the debate on Mr. Chaloult's motion was carried by a 35-14 vote asked by Mr. Duplessis. Mr. Chaloult objected and said he wanted permission to "reply to the member for Laval (Mr. Leduc)."

Hon. Oscar Drouin, minister of municipal affairs, trade and commerce, during the afternoon session, had upheld Mr. Chaloult's opinions.

Mental Patient Is Killed by Train

MONTREAL, April 12.—(CP)—Mike Powluk, 49-year-old Pole who escaped from Montreal General hospital a week ago while awaiting transfer to a mental hospital, was killed at Old Boucherville station today when he rolled under a freight train after a scuffle with a Canadian National Railways constable.

Railway officials said that Constable Edward Babson saw "a suspicious character trespassing on railway property" and was attempting to eject him from a freight platform when a scuffle broke out. Both men rolled on the platform and "the trespasser accidentally rolled under the wheels of a moving freight train."

Montreal police had been searching for Powluk since his escape last Thursday. They described him as "quite dangerous."

GERMAN TRIES TO BUY TICKET FOR HAMBURG

QUEBEC, April 12. — (CP) — Heinreich David Friesen, 42, born in Germany but living in Canada since 1930, Monday went to the union station here and asked for a ticket to Hamburg. Yesterday Judge Lucien Roy ordered him to be mentally examined pending hearing on a charge of being found without an enemy alien registration card.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrested Friesen after the ticket agent telephoned them. They said Friesen, who arived here a few days ago, lived in Manitoba and Ontario since 1930.

Nazi Fighter Force Reaches All-Time Peak

By WALTER CRONKITE

Excusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

LONDON, April 12.—An R.A.F. commentator said today that "frenzied" Nazi efforts to meet the allied aerial challenge had brought the German fighter force to an all-time peak of 200 to 300 planes above its strength of five months ago.

The spokesman emphasized that the effects of the Allied attacks would become progressively evident in the coming weeks if the tempo of the offensive can be maintained.

"The Germans doubled their fighter defences in 1942 and redoubled them in 1943," the spokesman said. "They need now is greater than ever before.

"There are now between 200 and 300 fighters more in the German air force than there were five months ago, before the start of the great battle for Berlin, and virtually all of them have been assigned to the protection of German cities, chiefly Berlin, and via the Germans them days."

1,500 Tons Average Weight For Raids

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—A Royal Air Force commentator announced today that in the first three months of this year 53,000 tons of bombs were dropped by bomber command in 36 major attacks—an average of nearly 1,500 tons.

In the corresponding period a year ago 20,000 tons were dropped in 34 major raids, an average of 800 tons.

In 21 attacks during the first quarter of this year the average weight of bombs dropped was more than 2,000 tons, the record bomb load ever dropped up to July last year.

Canada's War Costs Heavy In Next Year

HAMILTON, Ont., April 12.—(CP)—Canada will spend "roughly" $100,000,000 a week during the next year to do her share as a member of the United Nations, Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, said last night in an address.

Mr. Towers, who is also general chairman of the national war finance committee, said upkeep of the navy would cost about $8,000,000 per week, the army $30,000,000 per week and the R.C.A.F. $21,000,000 per week. Production of war materials would cost about $40,000,000 per week.

"These expenditures would be covered in a very small degree by money raised in the forthcoming Sixth Victory Loan.

The Canadian people have the income and the money to make the loan a success, Mr. Towers said.

SEEK $350,000,000

In the Sixth Loan as in the previous one, individuals will be asked to subscribe $525,000,000 of the $1,050,000,000 objective. In last loan, 3,000,000 individuals subscribed $603,000,000.

"This time I have every hope they will do even better," Mr. Towers said.

"It is estimated that more than 80 per cent. of the entire national income goes to those who earn less than $3,000 per annum. To achieve a successful loan, we want still more buyers and we want to increase the average amount bought. It will take real self-denial on the part of every Canadian people to make this possible.

"But if enough individuals do not give their full and loyal support, a chain of circumstances will be set up that can bring down the whole economic structure."

The money invested in Victory bonds and war savings certificates would not necessarily be spent in the immediate post-war years when new goods appeared on the market, Mr. Towers said.

"Some people, out of choice or necessity, will use savings to finance part of their living expenses. But I certainly do not expect a great flood of savings to be used for these purposes in the immediate post-war years."

MAKING A RESERVE

"Once people have acquired a savings habit, and accumulated something in the form of a reserve, they do not spend that reserve, if they can possibly avoid doing so.

'However, suppose that I am wrong. Suppose a considerable number of people do get cash for their savings in the form of bonds and certificates.

"We have the machinery to deal with the situation of this kind which may develop—and deal with it in a way which will avoid serious upsets or disturbances—in a way which will keep the wheels of the mills of small investors who are supporting the savings program during the war years."

DEBT INCREASES SHOULD NOT FRIGHTEN CANADIANS

TORONTO, April 12. — (CP) — Canadians should not be frightened by increases which have taken place in the country's debt so far or which are likely to take place before the end of the war, Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, said today in an address at a Canadian Club luncheon.

"I do not wish to suggest that public debt could be increased at the present rate for an indefinite period of time without placing an intolerable strain on the economy, even although the aditional interest payments are made to our own people," said Mr. Towers, also general chairman of the National War Finance Committee.

"But I do say that the increases which have taken place so far, or are likely to take place before the end of the war, should not frighten us.

"The real burden of public debt depends on the taxable capacity of the country, and that, in turn, depends on the national income or earnings. National income has approximately doubled since before the war. At the present moment the real burden of debt charges is less than it was 20 years ago.

The key to the debt problem as to many others rested chiefly in the maintenance of a high level of employment and income in the post-war years, said Mr. Towers. But a country to be successful in the economic field had to gain the understanding and support of its people.

nights of attacks, which left a trail of ruin across Europe from the French Atlantic coast to East Prussia.

In yesterday's operations, R.C.A.F. Spitfire squadrons escorted strong forces of American Marauders bombers which attacked targets in northern France and the railway yards at Charleroi in Belgium.

Last night, R.C.A.F. Halifaxes of the bomber group laid mines in enemy waters and R.C.A.F. Mosquitos on intruder patrol over Germany destroyed a Focke-Wulf 90. All Canadian aircraft returned safely to their bases.

Targets of the daylight raiders taking off from Britain were not announced immediately, but they presumably lay along the French invasion coast. Heavy explosions echoed across the Straits of Dover from France soon after the Allied formations crossed the coast.

While hundreds of British heavy bombers concentrated their block busters last night on Aachen, one of the most important railway junctions serving the French and Belgian invasion coasts, a smaller force of heavy bombers simultaneously hit Hanover, another German industrial and communications centre.

GREAT FIRES RAGING

Crews of planes arriving over Aachen during the final stages of the attack said huge fires were raging in the city. German night fighters tried to break up the raid, but most of them arrived too late to more than harass the bombers on their return journey.

Aachen was hit hard by the R.A.F. last July, when aerial photographs showed 900 acres devastated and 90 of its 140 factories damaged or destroyed.

In a matter of minutes the flames had spread through the shed, reaching the house, and trapping the three children who were upstairs.

Mrs. Rosland and her eldest daughter, who were out of the house when the fire started, could not enter the building because of the intense heat. The father of the family, Leonard Rosland, was in Edmonton at the time.

Investigations are being continued into the tragedy by the Stony Plain detachment, R.C.M.P., with Constable H. Russell in charge.

An inquest will be held, R.C.M.P. stated.

The family had lived in Wabamun for about five years. Mr. Rosland, who was recently discharged from the army, had left for Edmonton to look for work.

"Witchcraft" Trial Big News in Britain

By ALAN RANDAL

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—Not since Hitler marched his army into Poland has a non-war story captured so much space in Britain's press as the celebrated "witchcraft" trial which lasted seven days at London's Old Bailey.

It resulted in a jail sentence for Mrs. Helen Duncan who set herself up as a medium but it settled no differences between the believers and the unbelievers in spiritualism.

Some people said Mrs. Duncan amassed a fortune as a medium. The court held she was a fraud and convicted here under the witchcraft act of 1735. If she did make a lot of money—and there were those who said she took in as much as $1,000 a week—there was no sign of it in her way of life.

LIVED MODESTLY

She lived in a modest house, spent no money on jewelry or dress and had no social aspirations that were apparent.

Her conviction was her second in 11 years. Previously at Edinburgh in 1933, she was held to be a fraud.

But amazing evidence of belief in her powers was given by more than 40 witnesses for the defence. Her counsel said he could have brought hundreds of others.

Each day of the trial the London press devoted columns of space to reporting it. Hannen Swaffer, long-haired outspoken columnist of Fleet Street and confirmed spiritualist who testified at her trial said after Mrs. Duncan had been convicted, "I may be a fool but I believe in Mrs. Duncan . . . we will fight in this case to the end."

"BLACKEST HOUR"

Because of the Duncan case, he added, this will seem like the blackest hour in the history of spiritualism to a great many, but it will prove its greatest advertisement.

"Every time we have been attacked it has made people curious," he added. "They have started to inquire and all we ever asked for is honest inquiry by honest men and women. If you go on with your inquiry you must end a spiritualist."

After sentence of nine months in prison florid, 280-pound Mrs. Duncan collapsed moaning in the dock. "Oh, I haven't done it," she moaned. "Oh, God, is there a God? I never done it."

The court insisted its judgment emphasized that Mrs. Duncan had "pretended" to recall spirits in tangible form and said it was not attempting to decide whether spirits actually could be recalled.

Greater Govt. Aid Is Urged For Education

CALGARY, April 12—(CP)—An organized movement to bring about substantial federal government participation in the costs of education was advocated by Dr. G. F. McNally, Alberta deputy minister of education, speaking to 250 delegates at the annual banquet of the Alberta Teachers' association here last night.

Fifty per cent. participation by the municipalities, 25 by the federal government and 25 by the province was suggested by Dr. McNally as a possible basis.

GREAT IMPORTANCE

Dr. McNally declared the question of federal aid for education was so important that teachers should ask all candidates for federal election to take a stand on the matter.

The obstacle of the autonomy of the provinces in administering federal grants for education could be overcome, he said.

"Town and city boards have no sinecure in carrying out any real expansion of education facilities because of difficulty in finding the money," he added.

"The province must face very soon the question of larger participation on its part in the financing of education. There are people, a bit starry-eyed in my opinion, who think the federal government should assume 50 per cent. of the entire cost of education."

"The total bill for education in Canada is estimated at roughly $146,000,000 and the amount that should be spent is placed at $300,000,000. If the federal government had to put up $150,000,000 it would not be an exorbitant sum in relation to present spending, but it would be too much to expect overnight.

NOT UNREASONABLE

"Suppose the province put up 25 per cent, the local authorities 50 per cent and the federal government 25 per cent, it would not be too unreasonable."

The national teachers' organization, education councils and other interested groups might speak with a united voice and suggest a policy which would bring about the desirable result of greater federal aid," he suggested.

Discussion of teachers' pensions during the morning session resulted in a split of opinion between men and women teachers on whether or not the retirement allowance for females should be as high as that for males. Most of the men favored a lower pension for women.

The pensions committee recommended a $2.00 a month pension for each year of service for males, with 20 years necessary to qualify and 40 years the maximum to count in the pension calculation.

WOMEN LIVE LONGER

Several of the women delegates spoke strongly in favor of making this pension rate applicable to females. It was pointed out by other delegates that life insurance figures on life expectation showed that women tended to live longer than men and would therefore draw the pensions for longer periods. Upon this they based their argument for a $1.75 basis for pensions for women, as recommended by the pensions committee.

The issue will be settled Wednesday with a vote on the $1.75 recommendation.

Says Education Reform Cannot Wait War's End

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP)—Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, told the Ontario Educational Association last night that "education for tomorrow cannot be the same as the education which satisfied us yesterday."

In an address before the annual fall meeting of the association, Dr. James said "yesterday's educational must bear a large share of the responsibility for failure to live up to the ideals that our leaders envisaged."

POLICIES ENDORSED

"The business men, trade union leaders and politicians" responsible for pre-war policies had been educated in schools and colleges. The "voters, shareholders and delegates who repeatedly endorsed those policies" had a similar education—"and, I am forced to add that the educators themselves, on many occasions, showed no greater wisdom than their students."

"The plain reason why tomorrow's education must be better than that of yesterday," he said, "is to be found in the fact that our educational system has not yet caught up with the profound changes in the environment of human life which have occurred during the past two centuries."

"The education of tomorrow, indeed the education of today must help young Canadians to find solutions to those problems of personal, economic and political security, and if it is to succeed in that endeavor it will need more than large buildings or better salaries for teachers — important as these matters are . . . education reform cannot be postponed until the war has been won. It will be too late to start then.

GIVES THREE GOALS

He set three goals for reformed education:

1. The young Canadian must become an effective worker.
2. He must become a wise citizen.
3. He must be able to enjoy his leisure.

"The problem of education reform is much wider than the problem of educational finance," he said. "The treasury must help generously, but we who are the teachers and educational administrators have a responsibility that cannot be avoided. The curriculum is our responsibility, teaching methods are our responsibility, extra-curricular activity are largely in our hands. . . .

"The development of western civilization will indeed be slow if 'let the government do it' should ever become our slogan, so we who are planning education for tomorrow must reinforce precept by example."

Suits—With Trimmings

By SYDNEY GURSON

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—Life has become worth living again for the inhabitants of Tailors' Row—the men on Bond and Saville streets who shape the drapes (or drape the shapes) of London's well-dressed men and set the fashion for men's clothes. Austerity clothing has gone out of the window in Britain.

These moulders of fashion bled when cuffs, double-breasted coats and two waistcoat pockets and some other furbelows were eliminated 20 months ago. But they didn't bleed silently, in fact just the opposite, and now their howls have born results. Since March 1, men have been able to get a suit with all the trimmings.

The clothing austerity law probably will be remembered as one of the most unpopular of the government's wartime restrictions.

Accused Upheld in Not Leaving Auto For Police Search

CALGARY, April 12.—(CP)—Ruling of Judge C. J. Ford that it was not necessary for an accused man to get out of his car in order to permit an R.C.M.P. constable to search the vehicle was upheld yesterday in Alberta appeal court which dismissed an appeal by the crown against acquittal of James Robinson on a charge of obstructing a police officer.

The charge against Robinson was dismissed Feb. 15 in district court when Judge Ford also ruled that the man, by refusing to leave his car and remaining passively in it, was not obstructing Constable W. D. Gelbert during a search for liquor near Medicine Hat.

WINNIPEG, April 12.—(CP)—Higher wages are being paid Manitoba farm workers this year, James McNair, farm help service director, said yesterday. They range from $50 to $70 a month, with the average about $55.

Conditions Cramped

Five Canucks Find Beachhead "Isn't Soothing on Nerves"

By PO. TED FARAH, R.C.A.F.

ANZIO BEACHHEAD, Italy, April 12.—(CP)—On this audacious Allied bite into enemy territory, five R.C.A.F. technical "types", are living and working under conditions far from soothing to the nervous system.

The booming of artillery, the shrieking of shells or the explosion of aerial bombs accompanied their thoughts and movements around the clock on this small toehold south of Rome.

Flt. Lt. William K. Lower of Toronto impresses you with just how cramped things are on the beachhead by stepping outside his tent and saying, as he points across the flat plain: "You see that neat, white farmhouse a few hundred yards across there? Well, that's empty. No one lives in that. But, you see the one next to it, about another 300 yards away? Jerry lives there."

CALLS TWO OTHERS

He summoned two other Canadians on his station and, while the enemy and Allied artillery popped away, they were photographed by F/O. E. A. (Ted) MacDonald of Calgary, an R.C.A.F. press photographer and one of the new cameramen to visit the area. The other two are Sgt. Glen Rosebrugh of Sarnia, Ont., and Sgt. Ray Lapp of Frobisher, Sask.

At the time, they were engaged in building huts with earth and sandbags as shelters to sleep in, for three nights previous they had been unable to rest in their tents because of the persistence of enemy shelling.

On another technical station on the beachhead, FO. Harvey Schwartz of Outremont, Que., shared quarters with Cpl. Maurice Harrold, Ottawa. While Canadian fighter pilots battle daily in the skies over the beachhead and at other points on the Italian front, and while Canadian bomber crews blast the enemy from overhead, these five Canadians on this little Allied ledge of land, with their back against the sea, do their job under the noses of Nazi guns.

New Rescue Gear Is Used by Navy

OTTAWA, April 12.—(CP)—A new rescue gear which operates on the principle of a giant fish-net, scooping exhausted oil-covered survivors out of the sea, has been devised by Acting Capt. Paul B. Cross of Saint John, N.B., the navy announced last night.

Many Canadian corvettes and destroyers already are carrying the device, known as the "Rosthern rescue net" after the corvette Rosthern, of which Capt. Cross was commanding officer when he first conceived and experimented with the idea. Capt. Cross since has been appointed chief staff officer, reserves, on the naval board.

The net speeds up rescue work and obviates long stops in sub-infested water by scooping up survivors as the vessel moves along slowly. Experience has shown that survivors often are too numb to help themselves or too grease-covered to be pulled aboard by hand.

Mosquito Abatement

At the next to latest meeting of the Edmonton city council, a policy of mosquito abatement was adopted and the expenditure of up to ten thousand dollars was authorized for the purpose. At the latest meeting of the council, a request for a progress report revealed that absolutely nothing of consequence had been done.

It has been made very clear, from time to time, that the mosquito nuisance can be moderated, that the assistance of community leagues and other organizations should be enlisted, that any campaign, to be effective, should start not later than April 15.

Still nothing has been done.

It would appear that the best way to tackle a highly specialized job of this kind is to call in competent experts.

Certainly mosquitoes can not be made to vanish by a mere resolution of the city council.

Well-Timed

Mr. Cordell Hull's broadcast gives the cue to some things which representatives of his department are now discussing with officials in London—among them the question of whether and how far Sweden, Eire, Spain and Turkey have been actually neutral. That some of them, through fear or favor, have been sending supplies to Germany is known. Sweden has been selling its iron ore to the Reich, Turkey has been supplying Hitler with other war minerals, Franco has been shipping him the output of Spanish mines. Eire is permitting a Nazi embassy to keep open house at Dublin from which information may be trickling to Berlin by one means or another.

Mr. Hull's speech was timed to warn these countries that their attitude is under review, with the object of deciding upon measures to prevent them giving assistance to the enemy. As Hitler is no longer in position to demand their "co-operation" under threat of punishment, while the Allies are in position to punish them for helping him, the speech would seem to be equally well timed to bring results.

Rubber Shortage

Canadians have been informed that although production is "progressing satisfactorily", it will be eighteen months at least before the full demand for synthetic rubber can be met in Canada.

With huge piles of discarded automobile tires dotting the landscape all over the country, one finds this difficult to understand.

It is easy to see why the reclamation of this salvaged rubber for purposes that require a "virgin" product should have been halted in favor of synthetic production. The reason is that latex, or pure raw rubber, is a necessary ingredient in such reclamation.

But there are all sorts of rubber products that do not require the addition of latex. Stair treads, rubber mats, pot scrapers and scores of other articles can be manufactured simply by boiling down the waste rubber with suitable chemicals and pressing it out to the required shape.

Is there any reason why these operations could not be performed in local factories all over Canada and thus relieve, for the time being, at least, the pressure on more valuable rubber stocks?

The Key Changes Hands

The recapture of Odessa is the most important victory the Russians have scored in the battle to free their country from the invaders. The defence of Stalingrad and the Caucasus, and the 800 mile running offensive which has carried them into Romania recovered territory to which Odessa is the key. While the city remained in Nazi hands it was a land, water and air base from which a counter-thrust could be readily launched if Hitler could muster the necessary forces. In Russian hands, the gains of the long campaign are consolidated and secure.

The marooned Axis troops in the Crimea are doomed. The Black Sea is again dominated by the Russian fleet. From the Pripet Marshes south the invaders are "through" and that is half the whole distance from the Black Sea to the Baltic. The Ukraine "bread basket" will produce food this year for Russian use, not that of the enemy. From being a Nazi key to the wheatlands, mineral deposits and oil resources of southern Russia, Odessa has become a Russian key to Romania's wheatlands, the Ploesti oil fields and the Balkans.

Road-Building

Manitoba plans to spend $60,000,000 in a post-war road-building program if the Dominion will share in the cost, and $25,000,000 if the province and municipalities have to bear the whole expense. Most of the other provinces, probably all of them, have similar projects in preparation, as one way to provide employment.

This is altogether to the good, for the country needs more roads and better roads. Hundreds of millions of dollars could be invested in these improvements, with great and permanent benefit to farming, industry and business, not to speak of tourists and those who profit from their spendings.

It will do no harm, however, to remember that back in the depression days road-building turned out to be a rather disappointing means for creating employment. Modern road-building can be done faster, better and cheaper by the use of machinery than by hand-work. Such being the case, it is by machinery and not by pick and shovel that future building will be done.

Roads should be built where, when and how they will give value to the community —not simply as one way to make work. Men employed in this—or any other kind of work—should be employed because the job is worth doing, not simply to cover up the distribution of relief money.

To Europe for $150

Air officials in Ottawa estimate that, when the war is over, Canadians should be able to travel by air to Europe for no more than $150. This figure is based on the current cost of air travel in Canada which is slightly more than five cents per mile.

Two factors, apparently, are important in fixing trans-oceanic passenger rates. The first is the ability of the machines to carry cargo as well as passengers and the second is the life of the planes. At present, the life of a plane is estimated at four years. It is hoped that within a short time a plane will be produced capable of rendering profitable service for ten years.

This reduction in depreciation costs, plus the increased ability to carry cargo, will reduce passenger rates still lower.

This is first class news because cheap world travel may be one of the important factors in the preservation of world peace. The facility, for instance, with which Canadians and Americans are able to visit and do visit each other's countries is one of the reasons why war between the two nations is unthinkable.

With this practice of cheap and easy travel extended over the whole world, something of the same neighborliness will develop over a wider area.

—V—

Another air record was made, or several of them, when more than 5,000 British, American and Canadian planes dropped 6,400 tons of fire and explosive bombs on German targets in 36 hours. The point has almost been reached that every hour of the day and night Nazis somewhere are diving into their dug-outs in response to the hourly warnings which Herr Goebbels has found it necessary to send out. Whatever else may be said of that radio service, it fills a real and vital need.

Forty thousand Japanese at Rabaul are reported to be preparing for a "last stand". Ten thousand have already been killed or captured, indicating an original garrison in New Britain of 50,000 men. Rabaul, which is one of the smaller islands in the South Pacific which the Japs invaded. These figures give a hint of the enormous total of men who were thrown into the island area in the invasion wave two years ago. Recent Tokyo strategy seems to indicate that the remnants of these isolated occupation forces are to be left to hold out or perish. Sacrificing men is one subject Tojo doesn't worry about, and doesn't need to.

Some Doubt that Canadians Have a Sense of Humor

There Are Good Stories About Wit of Public Men

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA—A sense of humor is a difficult thing to appraise and the question of whether Canadians have a sense of humor has arisen since we find eminent writers ranging themselves on either side of it. To them, we Canadians are not amused. On the other hand, the death of Stephen Leacock called forth a flood of obituary notices, at home and abroad, in which the genuine humor of his sketches on Canadian life was recognized. Hardly anyone would say that this was mere politeness appropriate to the occasion.

One complaint is that we have no stories about the central figures of our politics, with which to relieve the deadly seriousness of our national affairs. The other day J. V. McAree recalled a story about Mr. Mackenzie King that happens to be our favorite story of that eminent figure on our national stage. It concerns the time when three key leaders in Parliament were bachelors. Mr. King of the Liberals, Mr. Bennett of the Conservative opposition, and Mr. Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta. When W. K. Esling, the Kootenay M.P., was delivering a sharp lecture upon the sins of the Doukhobors (which has become an annual affair in our Parliament) he had occasion to ask Prime Minister King: "How would you do if you found three naked Doukhobor women in your garden one morning?" Quick as a flash, Mr. King replied: "I'd call in the leaders of the opposition."

This is an example of really wit, rather than humor. This example unfortunately does not appear in Hansard, though many witnesses swear that it occurred. There are many kinds of humor, and much that appears is the records of Parliament is facetiousness or unconscious comicality. The other day the new C.C.F. member for Humboldt, Mr. Joe Burton, complained that what the country suffered from was "swivel-necked politicians and armchair farmers." There are spendid examples of inverted humor in life, too. The other day I heard Mr. Fallow, the Alberta minister of public works, deride an opponent as "so low he could walk under a rattlesnake with a top hat on."

If this is not humor, at least it offers a measure of amusement. The province of humor, so the authorities say, is human nature. Much of the comic touch in our national life falls into the category of wit, which deals with words and ideas, or satire, which deals with matters and humor. Mr. Church, the Toronto Conservative, did not smile when he remarked in Parliament on June 9, 1943:

"I am a sportsman and not a politician; I have never been a politician; I have tried in this House to conduct myself like a gentleman."

We tend to think the great wits belonged in Parliament in another generation. Mr. H. D. Hocop, of the parliamentary library, has collected many items of this kind. When some members interrupted Mr. Foster, in a debate in 1900, with cries of "Oh, oh," Nicholas Flood Davin asked: "Who says 'oh' or was it 'ba'a' or was it 'bray'?"

Mr. Gibson: "It was only the echo."

Mr. Davin: "It is my obese friend. I thought the cry came from a ventrical region, and I see I came from an hon. member of the House who is very powerful in all directions, especially the ventrical."

* * *

Shortly after the Grand Trunk, the Canadian Northern and other railway lines had been consolidated into the National Railways system, Mr. Fielding had occasion to ask: "Well, now that you have these railway lines, how are you going to feed the white elephant?"

Sam Jacobs: "Through its Grand Trunk."

It was Mr. Jacobs who once remarked, after an English-speaking member had made a speech in halting French, "I hope the translators get that into French." On February 18, 1943, George Cruickshank, the Fraser Valley Liberal with the jocose imagination, said:

"In British Columbia we have a beautiful and ornamental fern. A strange thing about it is that if it is transplanted or moved in any way, it withers and dies; yet in its own element it gets on very well. We call it the bracken, an I think the same result will follow in another case."

In March, 1942, when Karl Homuth, the Ontario Conservative, was speaking about Ontario, Mr. Cruickshank interrupted: "What did you get? You got Hitler."

Mr. Humuth: "No, we never got Mitch. Mitch just happened."

The mention of Mitchell F. Hepburn opens up an indigenous vein of wit. On one occasion, Angus MacInnis, the Vancouver C.C.F.-er, remarked: "We cannot afford to leave this matter to the gorillas who are at the present time running the province of Ontario."

In Toronto, Mitch replied: "He probably got us mixed with himself. Have you ever seen him?

But my favorite story about Mitch Hepburn is one which he tells on himself. In the 1937 campaign he arrived at a farm to address a crowd, and the only stand for him to use was a manure spreader. So he mounted and said: "First time I've ever been on a Tory platform."

A forthright Tory at the back of the crowd shouted: "Throw her into high gear, Mitch, she's got the biggest load on now she'll ever have."

Then just the other day, explaining he would support the Drew government, Mitch said: "I won't say I'll follow blindly, but so far as my conscience will permit—it's almost unbelievable how you can stretch your conscience."

Appease Money Gods

Editor, Bulletin: It has been reported that superstitious natives in India have destroyed $5,000 worth of food to appease the gods who are supposed to have caused the recent famine.

In western countries, "civilized" people destroyed food, during the depression, in order to create a false scarcity and thus keep up prices, and for profits.

In the States thousands of pounds of meat were burned while starving people smelt the burning food. In Canada excellent crop of wheat was ploughed in, while people stalked the streets and countrysides, hunting for weeds and food. In India they appease spiritual gods. In enlightened countries they appease money gods. And the people are hungry.

The Legal Phrase

Editor, Bulletin: I imagine many people who read in your paper recently Mr. G. Stuart's version of the 23rd Psalm as it might be rendered by a lawyer drawing up a contract thought, like myself, that it was so well done that they were not inclined to pick holes in the argument. That average layman believes that lawyers have to talk like that to be happy. The comments made by T. S., however, recall a rather interesting passage bearing on this very point of legal verbiage in a book entitled "Country Lawyer" by Bellamy Partridge which appeared three or four years ago. The passage occurs in a chapter aptly called "Words — words — words" which deal with the experience of the author's father as a small town lawyer of the last generation, more particularly as regards the large part of his practice that revolved around the drawing of contracts and wills. Commenting on the peculiar legal jargon continually used the author says:

"The words used in these legal phrases are not all hocus-pocus to impress the laymen. Most of them derive from old cases under the English common law, and many of them are to be found in the Magna Charta itself. For centuries the courts have been ruling on these phrases, which have been challenged and interpreted from so many angles that they are now practically impregnable. The courts have firmly established that they do mean this and do not mean that."

He goes on to point out that a new phrase is subject to no such protection. "It may mean one thing to you and another to me, but we cannot be sure of the legal meaning until it has been passed upon by the court. When contracts and conveyances are built upon a framework of this old phraseology, the fundamental structure is sound and peradventure. Only in putting in the specifications is there a chance for misunderstanding or misinterpretation."

Prudery

Editor Bulletin: I was much interested in comments about books showing nude women. In the Bible are the words "To the pure all things are pure". Some who think say "To the dirty-minded everything is dirty."

I heard about 50 years ago that a bylaw existed in Lethbridge that no man was allowed to lead a stallion through the streets without a blanket on the animal's procrudes had their way just the head and neck of a bull, boar, or stallion would be seen in the pages of most magazines dealing with farm affairs.

I read in one of those nawsty red newspapers about stables owned by the Vanderbilts, how well cared for their horses were. The Vanderbilt horses wear nighties with cute little holes for their pids. I suppose us Prowlingtarian who wrote about the horses was an agitator who did not like reading of slums infested by rats which bite little children.

Can't Be Brief

Editor Bulletin: The only purpose of the article "If a lawyer rewrote the 23rd Psalm") as I see it, is to endeavor to represent to the public that the legal profession, in drawing documents, deliberately and for the sole purpose of money gain, unnecessarily and improperly extends the wording thereof. I wish to point out that the phraseology employed by the expert legal draftsman is a result of great care and training and the absence of such wording would leave the document in such a position that it would be ambiguous and impossible to interpret.

There would be as much justification for a layman, entirely ignorant of the science of medicine to contend that the sterilization of the surgeon's instruments before an operation is unnecessary and a waste of time and that a scalpel is just as sharp and effective without sterilization as there would be to omit the correct phraseology from legal documents. Mr. Stuart himself has used an illustration which is very much to the point, namely, "He goes to Montreal". I cannot imagine any statement being of less value if it is intended to convey a thought. No person is identified, the time at which he goes, his means of travel, and the regularity of his trips are all omitted.

An attempt to rewrite the beautiful 23rd Psalm (in the words a lawyer would use) in a contract is aside from being sacrilegious, is as senseless and clumsy as an attempt to describe a good oil painting in the terms of "military drill with arms". Brevity is desirable in words but try and write the history of this war in a hundred words or less. Many details require many words and an appropriate conveyance must be used. A bicycle is a wonderful machine and very fine in its place but one does not use his bicycle where a 50 car train is required.

Radio Fees

Editor, Bulletin: It is certainly a disgraceful state of affairs if, as I have heard approximately one-quarter of the radio fees collected annually are paid out in collecting commissions.

Why should it be necessary for radio fees to be collected any more than income taxes, motor licenses, telephone and electricity charges? In all these cases payment has to be made at the offices concerned and by a specified date, or else—and there would seem to be no reason why radio fees should not be dealt with in the same way.

Apart from all else, we would be spared having to listen to the very undignified appeals made over the radio nearly a year after the fees are due to backsliders to please come forward and pay up.

Palestine

Editor, Bulletin: As you know, on March 31 of this year Britain's white paper, the "Munich" of the Near East, went into effect, shutting forever the gates of Palestine to the God-given land of the Jewish people, to the thousands of persecuted Jews in Hitler's Europe.

For the past few years now the Allied leaders have been splashing their platitudes of freedom all over the place, weeping for their "Jewish brethren." With the exception of Soviet Russia, none of them lifted a finger to save them. By closing the doors of Palestine Britain shut off their only avenue of escape.

In 1917 Britain issued her Balfour Declaration solemnly swearing to favor the creation of a Jewish national homeland and after World War No. 1 Britain was granted a mandate over the Holy Land on condition that she aid in the creation of Jewish national homeland. Since 1922 her various white papers have whittled down her sacred promise to a mere farce. The League of Nations refused to accept the 1939 White Paper, but Britain went right ahead with it because the league was not well organized enough to prevent it. This is the Nazi style if I am not mistaken.

Perhaps this letter has been written away too late, because 5,000,000 European Jews have been slaughtered (only about 1,000,000 remain), but nonetheless I hope it will have some effect on our over-callous public. After all, must a whole race be exterminated because Britain fears a bit of industrial competition?

Intolerant

Editor, Bulletin: In your issue of April 1 there appears a letter with the signature of Chas. H. Huestis which takes the editor to task for appearing to approve of the Protestant League. He calls that League the most intolerant set up in Canada.

Apparently he is so ignorant that he does not know that this League was called into being in this Protestant country by the gross intolerance and treason of other factions that are taking criminal advantage of the freedom they have here—a freedom that is not permitted on any other part of the globe apart from this Protestant country.

Then he goes on to laud to the skies the Japs—the most cruel, treacherous and barbarous race of all the supposedly civilized people of the earth—the ones who have been and are now butchering and torturing and torturing men, women and children to death. And they are innocent and harmless people! In what other country and at such a time could Mr. Huestis have the nerve in Japan just now with those "innocent people" and made similar comparisons he would live just long enough for them to get at him to cut him to pieces with their bayonets.

I am trying to show that they are more intelligent than Canadians! Granted that the Japanese schools are clever. Many of their relatives across the Pacific are interludes. All such things can go into the trunk when you move on.

If your bedroom-home is rented unfurnished and with some expectation of permanence, or if it is a duration arrangement with the landlady, the prospect is even pleasanter. For you can take its furnishings seriously, buying really nice things that will do you proud in your future home.

For a room like this to really do its job, remember to furnish for daytime hours as well as for sleeping comfort. That means easy places to sit—a couple of upholstered chairs and a love seat too, if there is space; a desk that is adequate for the need you will have of it, book shelves for your books; a table, perhaps a folding one but big enough for tea or snacks.

The main investment in furnishing such a room should go on things that will literally 'go anywhere.' That means the furniture and rugs should be as good as you can afford and bought with enduring ideas in. Select the best bedding available, for these things can serve you for years.

Accessories and lamps can be bought with a permanent view too. But things that require fitting and matching to this particular room should be as inexpensive as possible—that includes curtains, slip covers, spreads and such.

The art of living in one room requires a soldierly standard of order. Sorry, but there isn't any easier recipe.

Homelike Atmosphere

A friend and her Air Force husband are stationed for the duration in a port city on the East Coast across the continent from their home province. But my favorite story about Mitch Hepburn is one which he tells on himself. In the 1937 campaign he arrived at a farm to address a crowd, and the only stand for him to use was a manure spreader. So he mounted and said: "First time I've ever been on a Tory platform."

A forthright Tory at the back of the crowd shouted: "Throw her into high gear, Mitch, she's got the biggest load on now she'll ever have."

Then just the other day, explaining he would support the Drew government, Mitch said: "I won't say I'll follow blindly, but so far as my conscience will permit—it's almost unbelievable how you can stretch your conscience."

Mosquitoes

MINNEAPOLIS STAR JOURNAL

Sometime during 1943, five live mosquitoes were brought in shell-rings near the airport of Natal, Brazil. This was big news—and rightly—at the offices of the Rockefeller Foundation in New York.

For those mosquitoes were malaria-carrying anopheles mosquitoes, a type which was believed to have been eliminated from Brazil after a veritable conflagration of disease in the Brazil in the 1870 thirties. Scientists knew that just one such mosquito, if fertilized, could touch off the whole catastrophic situation.

Not for long was there any mystery about where the mosquitoes came from or how they reached Brazil: others of the kind were found in planes coming from Africa arriving from Accra and Dakar, in Africa. United States and Brazilian authorities immediately set to work on eradication and measures were tightened to exterminate further "stowaways".

The clever too—diabolically clever! But intelligence in the face of menace is a right use of knowledge gained —applied with Christian principles.

I think such smut in the air is a disgrace to their country, and the most intolerant of all men.

M. A. MacARTHUR.

Red Deer, Alta.

"Your mother," said the sergeant to the very awkward recruit, "is rather upset because you left home to become a soldier?"

"Not at all, sir she is," replied the awkward one.

"Well, just write and tell her not to fret any more," continued the sergeant. "Unless the war lasts fifty years you'll never be a soldier!"

Brighten Temporary Quarters

Furnished Rooms Can Be Homelike by Packable Extras

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

With Canadian life moving inexorably back toward first principles, we are returning again toward the once-familiar custom of making a home in a single bedroom, in crowded cities because often this is all the space that can be found, in doubled-up families, because this is all the privacy that can be spared.

But many, who thought they couldn't manage on less than five rooms to themselves, are learning that life can be very gracious in a single bedroom, that there are reassuring satisfactions in it that people near in such times. There is a dormitory-like camaraderie in crowded cities that helps the inconveniences not nearly as hard to bear as expected.

Those who are facing out the war in a bedroom-home are doing lots of things to make these war-era quarters friendly and cheerful. Even the traditional furnished hall bedroom, with furniture that is nothing if not basic and strong, can be given plenty of charm by the addition of nice accessories that can be the nucleus for that future home.

Packable Accessories

A small scatter rug, of beautiful quality, is a practical and packable purchase for a temporary home like this and will add much to its looks.

Your own curtains and cushions, pictures and lamps and radio or phonograph will pep up a furnished room, too, and maybe a pretty tea set or coffee service for sociable to achieve that friendly and comfortable atmosphere is worth noting.

Their furnished apartment had only skeleton furnishings. For the bedroom, a bed, a chest of drawers, chair, dining rug and curtains. For the living room, a homely sofa, an old square oak dining table, a small desk.

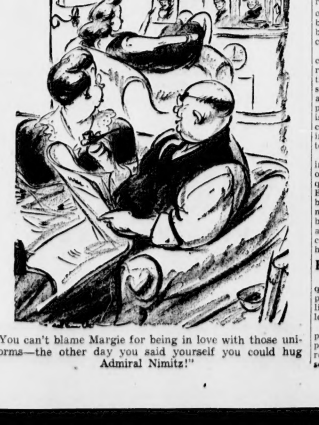

Here's what they have done: For the bedroom, Mrs. Air Force Wife made flowered cretonne curtains, bedspread and slip cover. Then she bought a pair of those wallpapered shoe cabinets which she now uses for bedside tables. The "footlocker" lamps don't look too bad with the cretonne shades she has made for them, and the old rug fades into the background quite nicely to compete with the cheery cretonne.

For the living room, she has made curtains, slip covers and lamp shades out of the same flowered cretonne, the repetition of this design contributes unity to the small apartment. The dining table became a real success with a green felt which picked up the green leaves in the cretonne. This makes a practical work top and also brightens its corner.

For a coffee table she has slip-covered her kitchen stool in green felt, binding and lacing the corners together in tailored finish. Extra sofa cushions are green, too. On the wall she put maps and photographs of friends.

Altogether the effect is livable and bright. Yet there is nothing that can't be packed to ship easily when time comes to shove on. The cretonne slip covers, curtains and spread can be made over or used again as is, for they are sunfast and washable and of stout weave and a lastingly nice design.

Canadian Boys Overseas Proud Of War Effort

Canadian boys overseas are proud of Canada and proud of the wonderful effort the Canadian people have put forth in this war, Rev. Donald Macdonald said Tuesday night at the Y's Men's Club regular weekly meeting at the Y.M.C.A.

A Y.M.C.A. war services supervisor, recently returned from England, Mr. Macdonald related some of his experiences overseas.

On the other hand, he said, the behavior of Canadian boys overseas is something we can be proud of. "You will never see a Canadian overseas who doesn't have his uniform in good shape, even his battledress."

LOOK AFTER MEN

The main job of all four war services, including the Y.M.C.A., the Salvation Army, the Knights of Columbus and the Canadian Legion, he said, is to look after the welfare of Canadians overseas and to help them adjust themselves to the strange and different atmosphere and way of life they find themselves in.

Mr. Macdonald related the development of the overseas sports and service program conducted by the Y.M.C.A. and pointed out that during one winter about 1,066 hockey games were played in the United Kingdom.

He emphasized that all the war services aimed to "keep Canada alive and fresh in the memory of the kids."

"And," he continued, "if you are going to keep Canadians happy overseas, you have got to give them hockey."

Relating several humorous experiences in the sports and entertainment program, he said that the boys displayed an amazing sense of humor and an ability to entertain themselves.

GOING TO SASKATOON

Mr. Macdonald, who will be in the city until Friday, returned to Canada because of his health and has received a call to Grace United Church in Saskatoon where he will take up his ministerial duties in July.

He was introduced and thanked by Y's Men's president Maxwell Dewar, who presided as chairman.

New members, Dr. A. W. Hardy and Cornelius J. Furguson, were introduced at the meeting and the sing-song, which followed dinner, was led by Bill Pettigrew.

Days of Isolation Even in Education Said Gone Forever

WINNIPEG, April 12.—(CP)—The days of isolation, even in education, are gone forever, said Leonard W. Brockington of Ottawa last night in stressing that post-war ambitions should be for a Dominion-wide standard and later a world-wide standard of opportunity for youth.

Mr. Brockington, former chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's board of governors, told the annual meeting of the Manitoba Educational Association that "teaching has far too long been the Cinderella of the professions."

Everywhere there is a new emphasis on education, he said, adding that it is strange irony the teaching profession is the first the tyrant seeks to destroy and almost the last free men seek to honor.

Defamatory Libel Charges Are Laid Against Doukhobor

GRAND FORKS, B.C., April 12.—(CP)—Four charges of criminal defamatory libel were laid today against John S. Makortoff, Sr., of Grand Forks in connection with letters sent to the regional mobilization board offices at Vancouver.

Makortoff, an orthodox Doukhobor, was arrested yesterday and later released on $2,000 bail. He is scheduled to appear in police court late this month for preliminary hearing.

The letters charged that Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, chairman of the regional mobilization board, accepted $50 for granting a deferment from military service to George Chahley, a Ukrainian.

Both Makortoff and Chahley are employed by the Grand Forks co-operative growers' exchange in this southeastern British Columbia city.

Donald MacLeod Named to Head Sheep Breeders

Donald MacLeod, Lake Isle, was unanimously elected president of the Alberta Provincial Sheep Breeders' Co-Operative Association Limited, at the annual meeting of the society, held Tuesday evening in the Civic Block. F. R. Haythorne, South Edmonton, was elected vice-president.

T. R. Ball, Edmonton, a former director of the association, was elected honorary president, with T. M. Reed, South Edmonton, honorary vice-president.

DIRECTORS NOMINATED

Six directors, to serve for a term of two years each, were nominated. They were William Robinson, Stony Plain; P. T. Rose, Calahoo; John Gordon, Innisfree; J. R. Tomlinson, Foisy; Arnold Anderson, Camrose; Stephen Swift, Viking. The last two-named, together with the principal officers, comprise the executive.

Elected at the last annual meeting, with still one year to serve in office as directors, are W. R. Cornish of Manville, N. J. Shopland of Rochester, Donald MacLeod of Lake Isle, F. R. Haythorne of South Edmonton, A. E. Pearce of Tawatinaw, and T. M. Reed of South Edmonton.

Resolutions concerning bonus payments and wool grading, were passed. The former dealt with overdue or delayed wool producers' bonus payments, many of which had been held back for almost a year.

Producers who did not understand the reason for the delays believed they were not getting a square deal, the meeting was told.

CALL FOR PAYMENTS

The resolution asked that the wool board pay such bonuses along with the final payment for shipments made to co-operative warehouses.

The resolution regarding grading was passed in order that shippers might be supplied with grading sheets indicating the class of their wool and why it was placed in such class.

Lively controversy arose over the proposed coyote bounty of $5 a pelt. The general attitude, however, was that appreciation was felt for the efforts of the provincial government concerning it.

Sheep breeders should encourage their boys and girls to go out and dig coyotes out, it was stated, after one member declared the bounty did not amount to a thing, that it was sheep that meant something to the producer, not the bounty.

PRICES DISCUSSED

Discussion took place concerning the price increase on two grades of wool and a decrease on tatted wool, the securing of shearing machines and the help problem.

Increase of one cent a pound for two grades of wool, and a decrease of one cent a pound for tatted wool, was announced to the meeting.

Government-owned machines for clipping, used last season, might not be available this year, said Donald MacLeod, who occupied the chair. He suggested that a capable man might be secured, however, a man who would take a machine into a district and do all the shearing there before going to the next district. The shortage of help among sheepmen was being keenly felt, he said.

The annual financial report, presented by Miss E. L. Holmes, secretary-treasurer and manager, showed the net worth of the association to be over $4,000.

During the past year, commissions on the sale of wool had amounted to $3,069, while other sources, including revenue from dividends, rebates and membership fees of non-shippers; income totalled $4,652.

ASSETS OF SOCIETY

Assets of the society included $900 worth of stock in the Canadian Co-operative association, merchandise valued at $2,930, with $1,605 cash on hand. Entire assets came to $6,741.

During the year, payments in salaries and wages amounted to $2,453, said Miss Holmes.

The gathering heartily announced that the association was prepared to carry on for another year.

Plan to Raffle I.O.D.E. Cottage

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE—The I.O.D.E. in Rocky Mountain House has bought a cottage at Sylvan Lake and will raffle it to raise money for the war work and charities. They've named the cottage "Lucky Chance." The cottage is all ready to move into, completely furnished right down to curtains and cutlery. Close in, on the lake front and highway, and could be a year-round home if the winner wishes. Mrs. W. H. Schierholtz is convener of the raffle committee, with Mrs. A. L. Urch, Mrs. Harold Nyren, Miss Margaret Kirby and Miss Mary Ross committee members. They hope to make the draw for the cottage early in the summer.

The Victory Loan unit has completed its organization, with the same committee that has been successful in previous campaigns. Unit organizer, W. J. T. Strong; chairman, J. N. Cony; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. I. Day. All the canvassers in town and country who worked before will be asked to help, and the office in town will be opened next week.

There is more than two feet of water on the ice on the North Saskatchewan river, but beneath the water the ice is still strong enough for light cars. Most of the settlers across the river prefer to drive to the other side, leave their conveyance and walk the long railway bridge. No teams have crossed for several days, as it is too dangerous for horses.

Ferrymen think the ice will go out this week and that they will have the ferry in operation by the middle of the month. There is considerable talk that the government will instal a power ferry this year, as the traffic has become too heavy for the one propelled by the river current.

Gleaned From Rural News

GRANDE PRAIRIE.—The Forbes Presbyterian church choir, under the direction of the choirmaster, QMS. Percy A. Dawes, presented Stainer's "Crucifixion" in the church Easter Sunday. Soloist was R. Philip and Miss Kay Philip was the organist. A large congregation was present and the church was decorated for the occasion. It is expected the choir will present this oratorio at other local points.

Hair Valuable

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—The famous blond hair of English women is worth a great deal more than its weight in gold now. The makers of wigs and toupees will pay $5 an ounce for human hair, if it is long, fair and soft. Before the war Italy and France were the chief sources of supply.

More Training In Home Said Need For Youth

CALGARY, April 12.—(CP)—Discussing the question of education in relation to radio, film and press, Dr. H. C. Newland, Edmonton, supervisor of schools, deplored "the most popular and prevalent form of literature among our Canadian children is the comics" when he spoke at the annual meeeting of the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations here yesterday.

"No amount of incantation will abolish it. . . . What are you going to do about it?" Dr. Newland asked the convention. The same applied to films he continued, pointing out that a much wider use of films could be made in the schools. However, these were expensive and this was another question for the home and school groups to study, he continued.

NO HOME TRAINING

The speaker believed the homes were falling down in that girls were no longer taught the arts of homemaking. . . . "Home made bread is no longer made . . . no preserving done. . . . How can she learn these things when they have been taken from the old fashioned scheme of things . . . ?" he wondered.

"I believe we must regiment our boys and girls back into the old style of home training," said Dr. Newland. He believed the home and school groups must find some way for youth to share in democracy and at the same time not take away their autonomy.

"They should be made to realize their parents are there to help, not dominate," he said.

Dr. Newland frowned on scholarships being given to the "so called academically elite. . . . There should be a chance for all," he said, advocating the joining together of all groups in a wider education program throughout the province.

"Education should be provided so that every child will be developed to the limit of his capacity," he said.

Equality Urged For Education In All Canada

WINNIPEG, March 12.—(CP)—The Manitoba Teachers' Society last night urged equality of educational opportunity in all parts of the Dominion, with an adequate educational level in all provinces.

Delegates at the 25th annual convention also urged the federal and provincial governments to spare no efforts in converting present training facilities of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan to technical schools when they are no longer required for military purposes.

The Manitoba government was asked to assume a larger portion of education costs as the system of taxation on real property permits too narrow a basis for finance.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

A 70-POUND microbe may be a trifle larger than most of us thought they usually came, but Earl Buxton says that several will be on display at Westglen tonight. Earl, by the way, is convener of the committee in charge of the annual school wrestling and boxing competitions, the first bouts in which will be held this evening.

And so if you wish to see microbes trading punches, pee-wees trying out headlocks and half-nelsons, miniature grapplers and fights between paperweights, just drop around to the Westglen gym tonight. All classes right up to heavyweights are included.

It is anticipated there will be about 30 bouts, with a possibility of more on Thursday and the finals are scheduled for Friday. The fact that there are 150 entries, double last year's total, is ample proof of a growing interest in the use of gloves and application of wrestling holds under competent supervisors. And the boys who will be performing at Westglen are merely the survivors of eliminations bouts held in various city schools.

DODGERS HOLD PRACTICE

DODGERS were the first of the five teams in the city senior ball league to go into action at Renfrew Park. "Chuck" Henderson, newly appointed coach, was on the job last night and so was Manager Bud Corcoran.

Ralph Morgan, Ab. Superstein and Dick Noon were the only members of last year's club on hand, but Catcher Doug Stevenson and Second Base Eddie Williams, of the 1943 Aircraft Hornets, along with Walter Johnson, ex-Ponoka pitching ace, and Dave Brockie, former Dodger outfielder—making in all a mighty good start for any ball club—were included in the list of "first nighters."

It's several seasons, of course, since "Chuck" Henderson performed with Reg. Godson's Red Sox in the city, and he has played a lot of ball since then, too. But with the same "Chuck" around, there will be plenty of color injected into the game with which the Dodgers will be concerned this coming summer.

ACE FOR "JIMMY" HOGAN

THE name Jimmy (he's now Sub-Lt. Jim) Hogan, immediately suggests golf and it is nice to learn that the former Alberta junior champion—and for that matter, one of the outstanding amongst the younger players in Canada—is still able to work in a few rounds now and then of the game in which he excels.

This corner is therefore particularly grateful for the information that Sub-Lt. Jim Hogan, formerly of Jasper, while on a short furlough not only "got in" some golf on an overseas course, but in addition was successful in making a hole-in-one.

"Jimmy" as he is better known here, graduated early in 1942 from the Royal Roads College in Victoria and he has served with the navy ever since.

"MONTY" A HOCKEY FAN

THE warrior feats of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery are known to everybody but the fact that Rommel's conqueror has long been an enthusiastic hockey fan is not so generally known. Capt. Clarence Campbell, former Edmonton referee and sports promoter who is now attached to an Infantry brigade overseas, writes that "Monty" has been a follower of Canada's national pastime for many years and took a great interest in the recent Canadian Army playoffs.

At the final game, all those taking part were introduced to the famous general before the face-off and then he presented prizes at the end. Campbell, with Maj. Joe Lamb of Ottawa, refereed the series.

Incidentally, Capt. Campbell sends his regards to his many friends in the city.

Annual Competitions Being Held for Public, Separate, High Schools

150 Entries in School Boxing, Wrestling

Bouts Start 7:30 Tonight At Westglen

WITH a total of 150 entries, more than double the number which took part a year ago, the annual school boxing and wrestling competitions including several semi-finals are being staged at Westglen school gym tonight commencing at 7:30.

Over 30 bouts are scheduled for this evening in elementary, intermediate and high school divisions and in view of the unusually large entry, some of the events may be run off tomorrow night, as all finals are billed for Friday.

Most of the schools in the city—including public, separate and high—are represented in the tournament, with the heaviest entries coming from Victoria, Westglen, Glenora, Bennett, Alex Taylor, Grandin, Garneau, Calder and Norwood.

All classes from the 70-pound microbes to 200-pound heavyweights are included and the contestants taking part tonight are those who qualified in their own school eliminations.

Boxing bouts will consist of three 2-minute rounds and two rings will be used, one each for boxing and wrestling.

All boxers and wrestlers are requested to be at Westglen not later than 7 o'clock tonight for weighing in and medical examinations.

Roy Haliburton will be referee-in-chief and the medical officers are Dr. C. C. Howe, Dr. Bardley Allin and Dr. Carlton Taylor.

Judges for boxing are Hon. N. E. Tanner, C. H. (Charlie) Croft, Frank Heller, and Melvin Downey.

Wrestling judges are Hon. Solon E. Low, Leo Magrath, Dr. L. H. Dodds and A. Dowler. Timekeeper is former chief of police, A. G. Shute and the announcer Roy Shaul.

Committee in charge of the competitions consists of Earl Buxton, Garneau (convener), Dr. C. H. Willis, Victoria, R. V. Clarke, Westglen, and Ralph O. Pritchard, acting supervisor of physical education for city schools.

The bouts are open to the public and admission fees are used solely for the purpose of procuring additional equipment.

Following are the entries:

Most Drastic Concerns Goalies

Changes in Rules Adopted At Annual Hockey Meeting

MONTREAL, April 12.—(CP)—Changes to Canadian amateur hockey rules concerning goaltenders, managers, coaches and trainers were adopted last night at the 27th annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

After a lengthy session by the rules committee, the changes and amendments were brought before the entire body and adopted.

The most serious change in the rules affecting penalties to goaltenders was that allowing the netminder only one major penalty, for which a major penalty shot will be taken by his opponents. For a second major offence, the goalie will receive a match misconduct penalty and will be replaced by one of the players on his team.

The rule read allowing the goaltender two majors and then banishing him on a third misdemeanor.

In the case of replacing a broken stick, where the implement is thrown to a player, the rule calling for penalty was relaxed to exclude goalies from receiving misconduct penalties. If a goalie's stick is broken and another is tossed to him he will receive a minor penalty and have a minor penalty shot taken at him.

Another tightening up rule was introduced calling for a minor penalty for any infraction of the rules which will encourage a misconduct penalty on the part of the goalie.

Managers, coaches and trainers were the subject of two rule changes brought in by the rules committee. In the first case, if such a member of a team is removed from the playing bench, the case shall be reported to the branch president who shall investigate.

It was also adopted that managers, coaches and trainers who are removed from the bench shall not direct in any way or attempt to direct his club. Such an offence will bring one year's suspension. In the case of a manager refusing to start his team, the ruling to fine him was changed to read "shall be fined not more than $100." Words added were "not more," placing the sum at the discretion of the local branch.

Memorial Finals Open Saturday

MONTREAL, April 12.—(CP)—Frank Sargent, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced here Tuesday that the Memorial Cup final series between Trail Smoke Eaters Juniors and Oshawa Generals would open in Toronto Saturday night, April 15.

The series is of a best-of-seven nature and will be handled by referees Dan Cox of Port Arthur and Peau Bennett of Montreal. Trail won the western finals over Port Arthur Flyers, while the Generals took the eastern final over Montreal Royals.

Leo Would Like Hear from Arky

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y., April 12.—(AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers rubbed his broken thumb yesterday, looked at the array of infielders trying to plug the inner defence and murmured "I'd like nothing better than to receive a telegram from Arky Vaughan telling me he was on the way to camp."

Vaughan, veteran infielder, has elected to remain on his Potter Valley, Calif., ranch this year.

The Dodgers released Mike Ulisney, rookie catcher, to the New Orleans club on option and returned infielder Frank Drews to St. Paul of the American Association.

Races Open Today At New England

PAWTUCKET, R.I., April 12.—(AP)—With additional pari-mutuel facilities ready for the public in anticipation of greatly increased betting, Narragansett Park today sets off another New England racing season as it opens for a 28-day spring meeting.

There will be horse racing and the accompanying betting on the mile tracks in New England from today until the middle of November, as well as some periods of half-mile racing at the smaller tracks in Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

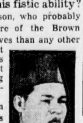

Louis "Moving Better Than Ever"

Joe Okay Claims Spar-Mate

By SID FEDER

LONDON, April 12.—(AP)—Has army life cost Sgt. Joe Louis Barrow, in private life heavyweight champion Joe Louis, any of his fistic ability?

George Nicholson, who probably has survived more of the Brown Bomber's explosives than any other person, doesn't think so and is of the oplion that Louis is getting better and better.

Joe Louis

Nicholson, from Yonkers, N.Y., is part of the six-man troupe that reached London with Louis Monday for a morale building tour of United States service camps in the British Isles.

In pre-war days, Nicholson was a regular spar-mate in the champion's training camps and has fought thousands of rounds with Louis. In addition, he has just finished a tour of 118 army camps in the United States where he and Joe entertained troops with ring exhibitions.

"Right now Joe is moving better than ever," insisted Nicholson, who also is a sergeant.

"Joe is getting cute now and can move an opponent around and spin him. I guess he is thinking of Billy Conn—and he is not going to let Billy outstep him next time they meet.

This "next time" with the Pittsburgh pretty boy who came within seven minutes of taking Louis' crown away from him in 1941 is the first item of business on Louis' calendar after the war.

against using the player by both President Frank Sargent, of the C.A.H.A., and President Doug. Grimsdon, of the British Columbia A.H.A.

The other charge was striking a spectator at the rink-side in an argument following one of the games.

The spectator referred to in the second charge, it was learned, was Carl Robertson of the Vancouver News Herald.

New Westminster Prepares Resume Western Finals

PORT ARTHUR, April 12.—(CP)—Confident they have their caps set for the Allan Cup finals New Westminster Lodestars last night prepared to resume their western Canada hockey finals with Port Arthur Shipbuilders. Sixth game will be tonight.

Lodestars squared the best-of-seven series Monday night with an easy 8-4 decision after Shipbuilders won the fourth and second games 5-4 and 6-1. Lodestars took the third contest 2-1 and the series opener was a 5-3 tie.

"We beat them at their own game Monday night," Coach Frank Dotten said. He declined to forecast the outcome of tonight's game but said he may dress spare goalie Laurie Harney as 12th man. Harney has had some experience as a forward.

Still stinging from their worst beating of the series, Shipbuilders were not discouraged. "We're still even," Coach Hugh O'Leary said. "The boys were outplayed Monday night. We'll just have to show a little more pep." The winner of the series will meet Quebec Aces, eastern champions, for the Allan Cup.

C.A.H.A. Suspends St. Regis Manager

MONTREAL, April 12.—(CP)—Coley Hall, owner-manager of the St. Regis Hockey club in the Pacific Coast league, was suspended for two years by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Tuesday. Hall's case was brought up at the annual meeting of the C.A.H.A.

The charges against the St. Regis manager were two. First was that of using Sweeney Schriner for his club in the Allan cup playdowns illegally. He had been warned

Stanley Cup Play Resumes Thursday On Montreal Ice

MONTREAL, April 12.—(CP)—Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks returned Tuesday in readiness for resumption—and possibly completion—of their Stanley Cup final series Thursday night.

Three games down after dropping two at home in the best-of-seven series, the Hawks had little to say on their arrival from Chicago except that they should have won at least one of the Chicago games.

"We couldn't beat Canadiens and the luck too," said Coach Paul Thompson, "but we ought to be able to get one game back Thursday. They aren't good enough to take us four straight."

Canadiens thought otherwise, and that was about the only thing worrying Coach Dick Irvin. He was just a mite afraid over-confidence might upset his charges the way it did in the first game of the semi-final series against Toronto Maple Leafs. The Canucks have taken seven straight play-off wins since then.

Before leaving Chicago, Thompson said:

"After all you can't begrudge the Stanley Cup to a team which has broken 12 records during the season and beaten all other five teams in the league rather easily. We gave them everything we had, but apparently that wasn't enough."

Dodgers Practice

Dodgers Baseball Club will hold a practice at Stadium diamond on Thursday commencing at 6 p.m. All unattached players are invited to attend.

C.A.H.A. Votes Bonuses To Junior, Senior Finalists

MONTREAL, April 12.—(CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Tuesday night at its annual meeting here voted bonuses to the finalists in both the Memorial and Allan cup playoffs. They will go to Oshawa Generals, Trail Smoke Eaters, Quebec Aces and the winners of the New Westminster-Port Arthur series.

Delegates also decided that minor hockey in each branch of the C.A.H.A. will receive a sum of $1,500 for the next season. This boosts the grant $500 in the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, Ottawa and district, Thunder Bay and British Columbia.

The C.A.H.A. Tuesday also put it's approval on a west coast senior international hockey league that will embody teams from Seattle, Portland and British Columbia cities.

It was felt that the formation of this new league would give the west coast amateur hockey a boost, especially since it suffered so badly this season when service teams withdrew from Allan cup competition. It was agreed that the Canadian winner of the new league would be entitled to enter into Allan cup playdowns. The leading American team would be permitted to enter into amateur playoffs in the U.S.

A visitor at the meeting was Al Leader, president of the North West International Hockey League which was run on the basis of an industrial loop this past season. The N.W.I.H.L. comprised two teams from Seattle, two from Portland and one from Vancouver. The Vancouver Maple Leafs were not affiliated with the C.A.H.A.

The C.A.H.A. is planning to draft a protest to the International Ice Hockey Association requesting that the Bay Cities Hockey League, recently outlawed professional loop operating in and around Los Angeles, be dealt with in a "satisfactory manner." Leader reported that another professional hockey loop on the coast was in the process of formation. It will be called the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Winnipeg Soldiers Beat Bombers 4-3

WINNIPEG, April 12.—(CP)—Winnipeg army Tuesday night defeated Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers 4-3 in the opener of a best-of-three series for the Baker Memorial trophy of the City Garrison League.

Pte. Steve Wochy, former Fort William junior, led the soldiers with three goals while Cpl. George Agar, former Reginan, got the other marker.

AC1 Jack Stewart, former Detroit Red Wings star in the National League, LAC Bill Snider and LAC Alf Pike, a former N.H.L. New York Rangers forward, tallied for the airmen.

Second game will be here Thursday night.

Tribute to "Mike"

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—(AP)—The American Association Tuesday voted to make its all-star game in July a tribute to M. J. (Mike) Kelly's 50 years in baseball.

Kelly, 68, president of the Minneapolis Club, was present at a meeting of club representatives to make final preparations for the opening of the 44th season Wednesday, April 19.

Good Tracks Major Consideration

British Making Racing Plans

By ALLAN NICKLESON

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—Revision of Britain's race track system, with a view to establishing courses that would compare favorably with any in the world, forms the major part of post-war plans of the Jockey Club, ruling body of the turf.

The plans follow recommendation of the racing reorganization committee for a chain of superb courses, one for London and others for the big provincial centres, with larger purses to competitors, cheaper admission and better public accommodation.

To this end, Jockey Club Racecourses Ltd., has been registered as a public company with a nominal capital of $45,000 in $4.50 shares, from the purpose of obtaining control of a number of selected courses. In the past the Jockey Club granted licenses to private companies who ran their meetings.

TO TAKE OVER COURSES

Various race courses will be taken over and, in due course, all racing will be conducted by the Jockey Club on a non-profit making basis. Licenses can be refused private companies by the ruling body.

"A chief object is to maintain and improve the breed of the English racehorse," said Capt. Charles Elsey, a top-notch trainer who is on the council of Racecourses Ltd. "To do this we must get the support of the public and that will mean we must look after their comfort."

(At present, many tracks are so constructed that few spectators see the start of a race and only about five per cent the finish because the finish line is in front of the most expensive seats. This is particularly true at Ascot, which belongs to the King.)

Directors of Racecourses Ltd. are the Earl of Sefton, Sir William Bass and Sir Edward Hanner, who are the Jockey Club stewards. Among those on the council are Sir Malcolm McAlpine, Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen and James Rank.

MAY REDUCE NUMBER

The racing organization committee reported considered economies could be effected by reducing the number of courses and racing more frequently on the remainder. In peacetime, of 47 courses under Jockey Club jurisdiction, all but Newmarket, Ascot, York, Salisbury and Stockton were run by private companies. The ideal race course, the committee said, had no shareholders and profits could be put back into racing.

This Spring let your C.C.M. dealer overhaul your BIKE

Today is not a moment too soon to take your bicycle to your nearest C.C.M. dealer for a real overhaul.

While you can make many of the minor repairs and adjustments on your bicycle, still it pays to have a C.C.M. dealer give your bicycle a complete and expert overhaul every few years. The C.C.M. dealer has all the special wrenches necessary for the hanger and other important bearings, also the correct oils and greases and he has the necessary genuine C.C.M. parts as well as the experience and expert knowledge that dictate the need of new parts.

So take your bicycle today to your nearest C.C.M. dealer and speed the happy day when you are riding again.

On the other hand, if you need to buy a new bicycle, and can qualify under one or more of the four classifications of riders shown herewith, go to your nearest C.C.M. dealer and fill out a Bicycle Purchase Application Form.

But, new bike or overhaul, act quickly and be awheel the sooner.

A A user in the course of whose daily duties the bicycle is needed to enable him to earn his livelihood (such as delivery messenger, messenger, watchman services, police patrol, collector, employee of public utilities).

B A war worker, who requires a bicycle for transportation purposes to and from place of employment, minimum 15 miles weekly.

C A civilian worker, who requires a bicycle for transportation to and from place of employment, minimum 15 miles weekly.

D A school teacher or student, who requires this form of transportation to and from school or college, minimum 15 miles weekly.

A clergyman, professional man or farmer who requires the use of a bicycle as a means of transportation for the carrying out of his work.

Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

NEW YORK, April 12.—We hope that some of the Senators and Congressmen at Washington noted the huge attendance and heavy betting during the first two days of the Jamaica race meeting—78,136 fans and $4,344,304.

These figures indicate that more than one billion dollars will be wagered at U.S. race tracks during 1944, bettering last year's total mutuel handle of $710,779,432.

More important, these figures are up-to-the-minute manifestations that the public is missing a chance to place a bet; even through the Washington legislators are missing the opportunity of a lifetime by failing to harness the betting urge—by making no move toward establishing a national lottery.

LOTTERY SCORNED

In these war days, when every available source of revenue apparently is being tapped by the federal government, and when the people, particularly the 20,000,000 "white-collar" workers—are burdened by the combination of heavy taxes and increased living-costs, it seems downright stupid to us that the lottery is scorned. It has been estimated that a national lottery, operated on a monthly basis would net the government about $2,500,000,000 a year.

This would be legislation with some fun attached. But apparently our holier-than-thou legislators regard the lottery as immoral, forgetting that our forbearers often used this method of raising funds—forgetting that George Washington, for example, Signed one of the first tickets issued in the continental congress in 1776 to raise money by lottery to fight the British.

Our conservative forefathers did not feel about what our current legislators might term "a compromise with morality". They turned cheerfully to the lottery not only for military purposes, but for building churches, colleges, public roads, canal systems, etc. The little tickets were used at times in raising funds for Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Princeton, William and Mary, Union and University of Maryland.

BECOME RACKETS

If the lottery had been restricted to federal use, all would have been well; but as used by the States—in combination with private enterprise—it deteriorated into such rackets as the Louisiana lottery, which was abolished in 1892.

The lottery and its bloodbrother, the sweepstake, are illegal in the United States. Postal regulations prohibit use of the mails for distribution of tickets. State laws generally forbid the sale of tickets.

But the American public has continued to participate in this brand of entertainment for years—buying tickets in the Irish sweepstakes, Calcutta sweepstakes, Canadian army and navy stakes, and in the French, Italian, Cuban, Panama, etc., lotteries. The public also has played the great American "policy" racket, with fervor. Before Pearl Harbor, it was estimated that Americans were spending about six billion dollars annually on foreign tickets and domestic "numbers", without Uncle Sam cutting in. Just another 18th amendment.

15,000 Expected Maryland Opening

BALTIMORE, April 12.—(AP)—Racing returns to Maryland today, and officials of the Maryland Jockey Club predicted Tuesday a crowd of approximately 15,000 for the opening program of a 28-day meeting.

A field of 11 three-year-olds and upwards headed by Calumet farm's Sun Again was named overnight for the $7,500-added Rowe Memorial handicap, six-furlong sprint feature.

The Maryland Jockey Club, entering its 201st year, will be host at Pimlico—as it was last fall—for a meeting sponsored jointly with the other three state mile tracks: Bowie, Havre De Grace and Laurel.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP)—The blitz is definitely on the men's senior basketball picture this year. Wartime regulations and difficulties have jolted more teams back on their heels than opposing players have been able to muster, and the set-up changes so fast it's hard to keep up with it. The late turn of events shows the quite-definite possibility the Dominion championship will be decided in a joust between a defeated team and one that backed into the finals.

Merriton Hayes Steel took the eastern Canada title in sugar fashion when Winnipeg Varsity, Montreal Oilers and Scoudous (N.B.), R.C.A.F. Repair Depot bowed out by default. Chances are the steelmen would have preferred to fight for the championship, since they will be creaking at the joints through inactivity if this keeps up.

In the west things are nearly as screwy. Last year's champion Pat Bay Gremlins meet Edmonton U.S. Engineers for what is billed as the western title series. It will be an empty bauble for Gremlins if they win because the R.C.A.F. will not let them travel east for the all-Canada finals. If Engineers win, all is well, but if they lose they will have to meet Vancouver Combines for the right to go east. And Combines were whipped three straight by Gremlins not long ago. You takes your choice!

Rubber stretcher:

Dr. P. J. Gallagher, honorary secretary of the Manitoba Golf Association, comes up with a novel idea for saving those precious and rare golf balls. He suggests that clubs adopt a rule permitting the golfer to replace his new ball with an old one, without penalty, after he has made his initial drive from the tee. Of course, that's assuming your slice is under control and you can find the ball at all.

Immortal sergeant:

Visions of army sergeants donning umpires' pads and masks after the war are called up by Clancy Loranger in the Vancouver News-Herald. Inspired by the report from Camp Grant, Illinois, that a school for baseball umpires has been established for service men there, Clancy opines that the sergeants would be naturals. He foresees erring ball-players chased off to do K.P. duty or guardhouse chores if they don't knuckle down to the top-kick ump.

Incidentally:

No-one can cry Shamateur" in the direction of the Copper Cliff and Gananoque midget hockeyists who paid their own expenses to Toronto for the Ontario playoffs. The boys scraped hard for the trip, but lost out to Toronto Young Leafs.

Though Smoke Eaters juniors, current sensations of the sport world, aren't surprised they are getting better as they trail along, Smokies were the only junior club in British Columbia last winter and they played against seniors all season, getting a chance at junior opposition only when they left the province.

Smokies Arrive At Toronto for Junior Finals

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP)—Loaded with baggage and championship hopes, the Trail Smoke Eaters arrived from the West Tuesday, ready for the final against Oshawa Generals for the Memorial cup and the Canadian junior hockey championship.

The first junior team from British Columbia to reach the final, they have probably done more travelling than any other team in quest of the cup. Jerry Thomson, coach, wasn't making any predictions. "I'd like to look over this Oshawa club before saying how we'll stack up," he said. "We've heard a lot about them and I'm anxious to see what they've got."

Thomson added that his team has no injuries and has been able to shake off a lot of colds and sore throats among the players. "We ought to be in good shape for the series," he added.

The best-of-seven final opens Saturday night at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The 34-year-old Chandler, who won 20 and lost four and the 30-year-old Bonham, who won 15 and lost eight, both had been certified as acceptable for military service. However, neither has been called up and under the latest ruling of selective service, restricting the drafting of those older than 26, may be able to play for a short time.

Chandler, who turned in an earned run average of 1.64 as well as leading the Canadian loice in the world series, is expected to join the team today. Bonham is expected to report Thursday.

Other major league news:

Washington Senators—Outfielder Stan Spence and first baseman Joe Kuhel were heavy hitters as Senators banged out 15 hits in beating Bainbridge Naval station.

Chicago White Sox — Players were told they will have today off to go apartment hunting in Chicago.

Chicago Cubs—Five rookies to start against White Sox Thursday: Ion Johnson, 2b; Bill Schuster, ss; Tony York, 3b; Andy Pafko, cf, and Billy Holm, c.

St. Louis Cardinals—Only bright spot in St. Louis was arrival of Ted Wilks, Cardinal pitcher. Bad weather curtailed workouts for both Cards and Browns.

Pittsburgh Pirates — Infielder Pete Coscarart expected to start third season with team against Cleveland at Indianapolis.

Barney Ross Gets Discharge Papers

NEW YORK, April 12.—(AP)—Honorable medical discharge papers for Marine Sgt. Barney Ross, former boxing champion who killed seven Jap snipers while protecting three wounded comrades during an all-night vigil on Guadalcanal Nov. 19, 1942, were received at St. Albans hospital Tuesday. Ross, who received the silver star and a Presidential citation for his deeds that night, was commissioned during his stay on the island and was invalided home early in 1943.

Failure in Past

Return of Old Power Policy Could Mean Way to 'Ruin' High Commissioner Warns

MONTREAL, April 12.—(CP)—Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom high commissioner for Canada, said in an address last night that the old policy of the balance of power as between the major nations could mean the way to "ruin" if revived.

RIGHT HONORABLE MALCOLM MacDONALD

Speaking before Le Cercle Universitaire de Montreal, Mr. MacDonald said phrases had been used "in some recent public speeches" which seemed to envisage that the relationship between the great powers might in some degree be one of rivalry.

"The speakers have sought to measure the respective strengths of Britain, America and Russia against each other, and to devise means of striking a balance between them so that peace would be maintained because no one of them was strong enough to force its will on another," he continued.

OLD POLICY MEANS RUIN

"That is the old policy of the balance of power. And that way lies ruin. We should not speak, let alone act in such terms, for even words of that nature introduce a sense of rivalry between the great nations."

When their relationship became one of competition rather than co-operation the situation was unstable, the balance was upset and nations resorted to war. The balance of power had failed to keep peace in the past.

If international affairs were to show improvement they must be governed by a different principle and competition between great nations must be replaced by co-operation.

Mr. MacDonald said such a relationship should be created on condition there was confidence between the great powers. That secured designs against each other were harbored.

SPEAKS FOR BRITAIN

"I can speak for Britain," said Mr. MacDonald. "I know my fellow countrymen and countrywomen. I know their present need. They are passionately anxious to work in that spirit.

"In return for trust and fair dealing, they are absolutely ready to give their complete confidence to the Americans and the Russians and the other peoples with whom they work."

The great powers first must seek agreement among themselves.

"But there must be no dictatorship by them in international affairs."

The goodwill and co-operation of all the less powerful nations are also required. That cannot be gained unless they have a proper say in the discussion and settlement of all those international questions which affect them as much as they do anyone else." Some sections of North American opinion wrote off the European peoples "as a collection of hopeless, petty nations who should have little voice in the discussion and settlement of affairs after the war."

CAN'T BE DISMISSED

"But the nations could not be dismissed as unworthy because of a tendency to quarrel and many had magnificent qualities."

If the smaller nations did not receive fair treatment in one quarter they would seek it in another.

"It is not inconceivable that in the course of time some of them may even be tempted to turn to a defeated Germany," Mr. MacDonald said. "Then the sorry, twice-told tale of our times may start all over again."

Canada had an important part to play in the post-war settlement period. Her associations, war production and geographical location gave her "a particularly wide influence."

STRUCTURE DEVELOPING

Mr. MacDonald said that the general political structure of the post-war world was coming in sight. Its principal feature was an association of the three or four greatest powers in the world for regular consultation and as far as possible common action together in international affairs.

Nations bearing the greatest burdens in fighting the war were preparing to play the most important part in the settlement and maintenance of peace. The leaders of Britain, the United States, Russia and sometimes China were meeting from time to time to exchange opinions and seek agreements on peace as well as war policies.

CANADIAN LEADERS ENDORSE STATEMENT

OTTAWA, April 12—(CP)—Available spokesmen for Canada's political parties last night expressed approval of the suggestion made by Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom high commissioner for Canada, that the old policy of the balance of power as between the major nations could mean the way to "ruin" if revived.

"What Mr. MacDonald has said is in complete accord with my own views as expressed recently," Mr. Coldwell said. "I am very glad Mr. MacDonald, as a Britisher, has expressed that view so clearly at this time, particularly because there is a school of thought in Canada advocating the formation of a British Commonwealth power block."

—V—

British newspapers have cut their paper consumption to about one-sixth of pre-war total.

REJECTED BY PREMIER

A spokesman for Prime Minister Mackenzie King's office declined to comment immediately on Mr. MacDonald's address, but it was recalled here that Mr. King rejected suggestions for seeking a balance of power among great nations after the war in a speech in the house of commons in February.

Mr. King told the commons that Canada would not support suggestions of Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, and Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa that balance of power among great nations be sought after the war.

"What we must strive for is close co-operation among these great states themselves and all other like-minded countries," Mr. King said.

John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said he felt Mr. MacDonald had rendered a "very good service" in drawing attention to the dangers of the balance of power doctrine.

VERY GOOD SERVICE

"I shall read Mr. MacDonald's address with very great interest. From the brief verbal summary I have been given, it would appear he has rendered a very good service in drawing attention to the dangers of the balance of power doctrine," Mr. Bracken said.

David Lewis, national secretary for the C.C.F. party, said the C.C.F. was in agreement with Mr. MacDonald that a return to balance of power politics would be "disastrous."

"That was one of the reasons for our rejection of the Halifax proposals some weeks ago," said Mr. Lewis.

(In a speech delivered at Toronto January 24, Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, urged the dominions, colonies and the United Kingdom to fortify their partnership so they could claim equal partnership as a group with the United States, Russia and China.)

"We also agree," said Mr. Lewis, "that consultation between the four great powers is an essential step towards international co-operation. We insist, however, that the smaller powers must also be brought into the discussions about post-war arrangements.

ESSENTIAL SECOND STEP

"This is the essential second step which must not be delayed. It is not only a question of the big powers protecting the smaller ones. In fact, it may be necessary for the small powers to protect the big powers from themselves.

"An adequate international system requires that all powers—small as well as big—participate fully, freely and equally."

Spokesmen for the New Democracy group in the House of Commons were away from Ottawa for the Easter recess.

ELROSE, Sask., April 12—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F., said last night he was in "complete accord" with views of Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom high commissioner for Canada, that the old policy of the balance of power as between the major nations could mean the way to "ruin" if revived.

"What Mr. MacDonald has said is in complete accord with my own views as expressed recently," Mr. Coldwell said. "I am very glad Mr. MacDonald, as a Britisher, has expressed that view so clearly at this time, particularly because there is a school of thought in Canada advocating the formation of a British Commonwealth power block."

struggle ensued on the narrow front of "A" and "B" Companies.

Brig. Jefferson, determined that this resistance should be broken and the advance continued, went forward personally to direct the attack. Throughout the action he exposed himself to the most advanced elements of his battalion, repeatedly making dangerous reconnaissances under fire of all types, co-ordinating and directing the efforts of the two companies, and by his presence and encouraging and inspiring his men to maintain and increase the pressure of the attack.

In this complex and confused street fighting, Brig. Jefferson displayed to a superlative degree the qualities essential in a commanding officer. His calmness and cool disregard of danger were an inspiration to his men. His unyielding determination, quick and accurate appreciation and skilful leadership broke the final enemy stand and ensured the capture of Ortona.

CAPT. (ACTING MAJOR) J. R. STONE, M.C.

On Dec. 23, 1943, Major Stone led his company into the attack astride the main street of the fortified city of Ortona.

Very severe and confused fighting followed, particularly at the entrance to the city square, from which the main coast road leads north-eastward. In this square an enemy 75 mm anti-tank gun was concealed. Major Stone was leading a detachment of his men into this sniper-infested area and came under heavy fire from four enemy machine guns.

MOVES FORWARD

Placing his men under cover, Major Stone skilfully worked his way forward under intense fire, to within grenade range of one of these guns, destroyed the crew and captured the gun. This feat enabled his company to drive the remainder of the enemy out of the square and opened the way for immediate exploitation by the regiment, supported by tanks.

Major Stone's gallantry and skill were an example to all his men and greatly assisted the operation of driving the enemy out of Ortona.

CAPT. (ACTING MAJOR) W. deN. WATSON, M.C.

After the attack and capture of Va Boatty by this officer's unit on the night of the 5th and 6th of December, 1943, "A" Company, commanded by Major Watson, was allotted the defence of the north-east corner of the town.

In the morning, intense mortar and artillery fire was directed on the position and at 0730 hours, the enemy infantry made a powerful and determined counter-attack in which one platoon of the company was overrun.

The situation was critical and the enemy success threatened to drive a wedge between "A" Company and "B" Company on the left, and to cause the defence of the whole battalion to collapse. Although, in full view of the enemy and under heavy and continuous cross fire from a range as close as 100 yards, Major Watson moved from platoon to platoon, coolly reorganizing the defence, co-ordinating the tasks of his platoons and encouraging and cheering his men in their stand.

By 0815 hours, the Company was dangerously low in ammunition when three or four tanks came up. Although exposed to constant sniping and machine gun fire at close range, Major Watson crossed 150 yards of ground which afforded no cover, personally led the tanks into position and pointed out targets to them. This gallant deed brought about the repulse of the counter-attack and enabled a key position in the defence of the battalion area to be held.

In this action, heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy in men and equipment, including six mortars and one anti-tank gun captured by the company.

The defeat of the enemy in this engagement was due not only to the resolution, tactical skill and superb leadership of Major Watson, but also to the magnificent example set by his cheerfulness and courage under heavy fire; an example which inspired his men to hold their ground at all costs.

LT. (ACTING CAPTAIN) D.S. HARLEY, M.C.

On the 20th of December, 1943, Capt. Harley, Officer Commanding "C" Company of his regiment, was ordered to attack Ortona along the coast with the object of creating a diversion to cover the main thrust of the other forces from the south.

On approaching the outskirts of the town, Capt. Harley came upon a strong enemy defensive position avoiding a frontal attack, and led his men up a precipitous cliff-like slope on the enemy's flank, surprising the defendants and silenced the fourteen machine-gun posts.

The next objective was a church strongly held by the enemy. In the attack on this difficult position, the right platoon met heavy opposition and lost its officer, sergeant and two of its three corporals. Then counter attacks developed on both flanks and forced Capt. Harley to commit his reserve platoon.

LANCE SERGEANT (ACTING SERGEANT) J. R. W. DICK, M.M.

M. 15568 L.-Sgt. (A.-Sgt.) John Edward Williams Dick of the Canadian Infantry Corps was in Ortona, Italy, on Dec. 25, 1943, at approximately 13:30 hours, during intense street fighting when No. 11 Platoon of "B" Company of his regiment came under fire from machine guns, snipers and a flame thrower. Both No. 11 Platoon and "A" Company on the left were checked by this formidable resistance.

Sgt. Dick asked permission to carry out a reconnaissance for a possible route to outflank this strong point. This was granted and he found that by crossing an alley and climbing approximately ten feet of water pipe, he could enter a small room, which although under fire gave access to the enemy position.

Returning to the platoon, Sgt. Dick led two sections forward by this route and skilfully got them into position to give great assistance to the advance of "A" Company on the left.

In this action, and subsequent street fighting that day, Sgt. Dick displayed outstanding skill, coolness and personal courage. A large proportion of his platoon had not been in action previously. His conduct was an inspiring example to them.

CPL. (ACTING SERGEANT) G. A. CAMPION, M.M.

On Dec. 22, 1943, "A" Company of a Canadian Infantry regiment was attacking down the main street of Ortona, Italy, supported by a troop of tanks, when a mine field was spotted about 30 yards in front of the leading tank. All the infantry were pinned inside buildings by heavy machine gun fire from four guns. Engineers were called forward to clear the field, but owing to this fire it was impossible for them to get near the mines.

Sgt. Campion asked permission of his company commander to lay a smoke screen. Permission was granted. He gathered a pocketful of smoke grenades from his platoon, ran 30 yards beyond the mine field into the open street and threw them. A perfect smoke screen resulted. He then ran back to his platoon to collect more grenades. In the meantime the Engineers, who had not been able to complete their task before the smoke cleared, were driven back by machine gun fire.

Returning, Sgt. Campion laid another smoke screen which enabled them to clear the mines and thus allowed the advance to go on.

The distance covered each time under heavy machine gun fire in the open street was approximately 30 yards.

Because of his determination and absolute lack of personal fear on these two occasions he contributed materially to the success of the operation.

ADOLPHE MENJOU

HELEN HAYES

ANNA KASKAS

Heading the parade of distinguished stars who will contribute to the Sixth Victory Loan by appearing in Canada on the Victory Star Shows are Helen Hayes, one of America's best-loved dramatic stars; Adolphe Menjou, debonair veteran of many screen successes, and Anna Kaskas, glamourous blonde Metropolitan contralto.

Along with Canada's Percy Faith, the Lyrie Trio and a 40-piece orchestra and choir, they will be heard in the first Victory Star Show of the current series. Here this dazzling Victory Star Show broadcast coast-to-coast, Wednesday, April 12. It will be heard locally over CJCA, CFRN, CBK at 8:30 to 9:30 p.m., M.D.T.

Government House Lease Is Signed

Giving the Dominion government use of Government House, Edmonton, for the duration of the war and six months after, a lease was signed here Wednesday morning by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, on behalf of the provincial government.

The Dominion will use the property as a convalescent home for returned soldiers, and will pay a nominal rental fee of $1 a year. The senior government is to stand the cost of making any alterations that are necessary.

Workmen have already commenced alterations to make the property ready for reception of patients.

Government House has been vacant since the end of last December, when it was vacated by Northwest Airlines Inc. This company had leased the property for more than a year.

A newly formed Salvation Army young people's band will be commissioned in a ceremony conducted by Brig. Rufus R. Raymer at the 102 street Salvation Army citadel Friday night at 7:30 p.m. A program of dialogues, music and tumbling will also be presented by Girl Guides.

Before the Magistrate

Two witnesses definitely checked the speed of William Hawrysh, Edmonton, charged with driving an auto at an unreasonable speed, said Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., Wednesday morning, as he found the accused guilty and imposed a penalty of $15 or 21 days.

Hawrysh had taken another man sightseeing along Kingsway. They were paying attention, not to the speed of the auto, but to things going on about them, said the magistrate.

Albert Logan wrote a letter to the magistrate, from the cell-block. He received the note, Mr. Millar said, but was giving it no more consideration. Albert, taken from a cafe about 7 p.m., April 5, and told to go home, returned to the eating place to continue annoying people, the court was told.

The penalty was $40 or two months hard labor.

Edward McCauley pleaded guilty to wilful damage, amounting to $27.06, and concerning a door in a cafe. He acknowledged convictions through the months of May and wilful damage, and was assessed $30 or six weeks. He paid the damage costs in court.

Labor Shortage Is Delaying Work

Regular construction program to be undertaken this year by the city engineer's department is being delayed through labor shortages, it was announced Wednesday.

A standing order has been placed with the National Selective Service office for 150 men for civic projects, but the response has not been good, a civic official stated.

In addition to the current construction work which is now being arranged there is a carry-over of $40,000 from the 1942 and 1943 estimates for work it was impossible to complete in those years because labor was not available.

Income Tax Shows Big Increase Here

A total of $20,849,408 in income tax was collected in Edmonton by the department of national revenue during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944 it was announced Wednesday.

This was an increase of $11,064,887 over the previous year. All income tax districts showed increases according to the report. Total collected in Calgary was $27,381,411, an increase of $7,980,247 over last year's figures.

Dominion total in customs, excise and income tax collected amounted to $2,506,256,992, compared with $2,106,297,976 in the previous fiscal year, an increase of $443,959,015.

Income tax collections totalled $1,635,494,706, an increase of $257,451,874 while customs and excise revenue amounted to $814,762,285 an increase of $186,507,141.

Customs excise, and income tax revenue during March totalled $224,201,602 as against $201,769,160 in March 1943.

Three City Pools Will Open May 15

Plans were completed Wednesday for the opening of the three civic-owned swimming pools on Saturday, May 15, according to A. W. Haddow, city engineer.

Last year the pools were extremely popular and record attendances were recorded at all three. Arrangements are being made this year to handle capacity crowds, and another record-breaking season is anticipated.

Plan Speeding Up Of Home-Building

Speed-up in the construction of the houses being built here by Wartime Housing Ltd., is expected following the visit of K. M. Bash, Toronto, general manager of the company.

It was learned Wednesday that the contractors have been told to complete the 350 homes by Aug. 1, and that all possible speed was to be brought to bear on the completion of the projects.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. Bash conferred with civic officials relative to the housing situation here, and discussed details of the contract between the city and the company under which the houses are being built.

Mayor John W. Fry said that interpretation of certain clauses on which there was a difference of opinion were clarified.

To Gravel Road Into Peace River

Complete gravelling of the highway from Edmonton to Grande Prairie this year is planned by the provincial government, according to information received from Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public work, by Reg. T. Rose, executive secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, and G. H. Bessent, of the Peace River Boards of Trade.

At a meeting with the minister on Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Rose and Mr. Bessent were told that there is a sufficient supply of gravel to complete the road provided the necessary labor and other materials will be available.

It is also hoped, Mr. Fallow said, that gravelling of the road from Peace River to Grande Prairie may be completed as soon as possible.

He also said plans for bridge construction to be made across Smith River and soundings have already been taken and plans drawn up. Actual construction will depend upon how soon steel and other materials can be made available.

Mr. Bessant, who returned to Grande Prairie Tuesday night, recommended on behalf the the Peace River boards that work be commenced on the Whitecourt-Valleyview road as soon as possible.

Northwest Staging Route Plans

* * * * * * * * *

But There's a Very Good Reason

* * * * * * * * *

To Change Camouflage on Planes

New Colors

Group Capt. V. H. Patriarche, A.F.C., commanding officer of the Northwest Staging Route, R.C.A.F., who explained Wednesday that light aircraft of the Staging Route is being repainted bright yellow so they may be more readily seen against a summer background in the Northwest.

Camouflage on aircraft is for the obvious purpose of making planes less visible to the enemy. On the Northwest Staging Route of the R.C.A.F. camouflage, however, is itself an enemy and as a result the dull battle green-grey on light R.C.A.F. aircraft operating over the famed Staging Route is being scraped off to be replaced with the bright yellow standard peace-time color of the air force.

In announcing Wednesday that the battle camouflage paint on Norseman aircraft used by the Staging Route is to come off, Group Capt. V. H. Patriarche, A.F.C., commanding officer of the route said the change is being made because:

"Experience is that planes in battle camouflage are very difficult to see against the usual summer landscape in the Canadian Northwest. Where our aircraft are not considered to be subject to enemy attack it is therefore more desirable that planes be readily seen. Norseman aircraft on the Northwest Staging Route are to be repainted a bright yellow."

Yellow is the normal service color of the R.C.A.F. and all training command aircraft have been painted that color.

Where camouflaged planes are forced down in heavy timbered country or near the shore of small lakes it is very difficult to see them either from the air or on the ground at any distance. Yellow shows up particularly well against a green summer landscape.

Camouflage still remains on aircraft of the R.C.A.F. Transport Command.

MANY EXPERIMENTS

Numerous experiments have been made with aircraft color schemes for machines flying through the northwest.

U.S. Army Air Force Transport Command planes have tried red bars on wing tips, red rudders and tail assemblies.

Now, it has been announced, the camouflage probably will be removed entirely from most of the big all-metal transports flying in areas where enemy attack is unlikely.

In addition to making planes more visible when forced down in remote areas the shiny silver jobs are lighter and have greater speed. Camouflage on a big transport weighs about 60 pounds.

With the paint removed planes are able to carry 60 pounds of other equipment that is vitally required, such as emergency rations and equipment of great value where forced landings are made in remote areas.

Speeds of the ships is also increased several miles an hour.

Doctor Shortage May Be Lessened

The situation in Vilna district, some 65 miles east of Edmonton, where there has not been a doctor for nine months, is typical of some other parts of the province because of existing wartime conditions, Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, stated here today.

"We can't find the doctors needed to meet all requirments," he said.

The minister went on to say that as soon as an agreement can be arranged with the Dominion government, the situation will be reviewed, and it will be seen what can be done for districts where a doctor is urgently needed.

The Vilna village council recently held an emergency meeting, to discuss the doctor shortage in that area. The council stated the situation to be "alarming."

Business Men Ready For Victory Loan

Heads of firms representing 70 of the larger business establishments in the city held an organization meeting in preparation for the Sixth Victory Loan campaign, at the Corona hotel, Tuesday.

R. V. Price, provincial vice-chairman, payroll savings section, National War Finance Committee, presided. An appeal for co-operation of management and employees was made in the success of the loan which was followed by the showing of a motion picture "Target Berlin" depicting the part Canadians are playing in industry and the prosecution of the war.

R. E. Staples, Edmonton chairman, addressed the meeting concluding with the remark "We owe our present freedom to those who are fighting and dying for us so it is little enough that we are asked to support them with our dollars."

A strong feeling of optimism as to the results of the campaign pervaded the meeting.

Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary Carries on Work Among War Vets

On Tuesday night at the hut in the soldiers' wing of the University hospital, patients, who include veterans of the First Great War as well as the present one, attended a concert. Some had an arm or a leg in a cast, others were confined to wheel chairs and one Scottish lad made his entrance on a stretcher, but all were cheerful and appreciative of the entertainment and of the treats and comforts which were distributed by their hostesses.

This event was just one of many provided for the men who have been invalided home, by the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. The organization was formed last December and already the membership has mounted to 53, with 27 to be initiated at the next meeting.

ASSIST LEGION

The purpose of the auxiliary is to support the Legion in everything it does and to assist with the rehabilitation of men returning from active service. The women feel they have already contributed to this end through their assistance in getting approval of the proposal to use Government House as a convalescent home.

Membership is open to members of the Legion, widows of veterans of the last war, and in addition, to wives, mothers, and daughters over 18, of men serving in the present war.

Many of the women have children in the armed forces, including one who has four sons and one daughter on active duty with the Canadian Army.

In addition to entertaining men in the soldiers' wing every two weeks the women visit service men and servicemen's wives in the T.B. ward at the General hospital and assist the welfare committee of the Legion whenever possible.

The auxiliary is making special plans to assist with the rehabilitation of servicewomen.

EXECUTIVE MEMBERS

Members of the executive are Mrs. W. G. Paterson, president; Mrs. A. L. Mackay, 1st vice-president; Mrs. W. G. Thomas, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. W. T. Rice, secretary; Mrs. J. Macondald, treasurer; executive committee, Mrs. J. Marshall, Mrs. J. Jones, Mrs. P. Gwynne, Mrs. P. Mains, Mrs. W. Ireland, and Mrs. W. Williams.

Take Explosives From Coal Mine

Forcing a way into the powder magazine of the Red Hot coal mine, sometime since Saturday night, thieves obtained and took away a quantity of explosives and electric detonating cap, R.C.M.P. said Tuesday morning.

Entry into the mine was made by twisting a padlock from the door hasp. To accomplish this, the intruders used a heavy wrench or claw bar.

Police said that no one had been on duty at the mine from Saturday night until 8 a.m. Tuesday. Belief was expressed that someone well acquainted with explosives was responsible.

Investigations failed to show if a car had been used to carry away the stolen articles. The mine, located on the south bank of the North Saskatchewan river, is just outside the city limits.

Fair, Warm Weather Prevails in the City

Fair, warm weather, is continuing here. The maximum temperature Tuesday was 58 degrees above zero and the lowest temperature registered overnight was 30 degrees. Light smoke hung over the city Wednesday morning when the official reading at 8:30 a.m. was 36 degrees. Very little change is predicted by weather officials and their forecast for today and tomorrow is "cloudy and not much change in temperature."

65 Cases Typhoid In South Alberta

Between 65 and 70 cases of typhoid fever have been reported from various parts of Southern Alberta to date, Dr. A. Somerville, director of communicable diseases, said here Wednesday. Four deaths have resulted.

One and two extra cases of typhoid are being reported every day, Dr. Somerville said. These are not the direct result of eating infected cheese, which is said to have caused the epidemic, but are occurring in the families of those who did eat the cheese. (Earlier, the government traced the faulty cheese to one factory, and halted its distribution.)

It was understood from the department of health that a district nurse has been sent into the Medicine Hat area, to advise persons there as to precautions to take against the typhoid epidemic.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

There has been much discussion lately about an expected mosquito plague this summer. What is your favored method of combatting mosquitos?

THE ANSWERS

A. MERRITT, clerk: Nothing I do seems to help keep mosquitos away. At summer camp, we use smudges. My brother says the smoke is worse than the insect bites, and it doesn't really seem to do much good. A drop of vinegar on a mosquito bite sometimes helps I've found, but it is too troublesome a method to be successful.

HUGH J. ROSS, student: The only answer is to have a swim. There are no underwater mosquitos, at least not at Sylvan Lake. If you can't take a swim, then stay in bed. Mosquitos won't bother you much there, either.

JACK CAMPBELL, farmer: I have had good luck in wearing two shirts when the mosquitos are at their worst, and if I am doing active work. They don't stop the insects from trying to bite, but the two thicknesses of cloth move as I swing my arms, and seems to break the mosquito's stingers. I don't know of any skin preparation that seems to help, and I've tried all I could find. I would like to try some of the salve the soldiers use up in the north country.

Provincial Chapters Raise $201,000 During Past Year For Work of Organization

Two hundred and one thousand dollars was raised for general funds and war work by the provincial chapters, I.O.D.E., during the last year, it was announced by Mrs. R. C. Marshall, president, at the opening session of the 24th annual meeting held Tuesday evening in the Macdonald hotel. This sum is an increase of $70,000 over the previous year. The meeting will continue today and Thursday at the hotel.

The chapters obtained pictures, books, radios, etc., for army, navy, and air force schools; adopted navy ships and kept personnel supplied with essentials and comforts; assisted minesweepers and recently have been offering a helping hand to the Poles in Russia.

Members extended hospitality to Allied servicemen, and have taken on the added responsibility of helping and welcoming to Canada the British brides of Canadian servicemen.

ASSIST CHILDREN

Help has also been given to the children of servicemen from the last war. Several hundred of these girls and boys have been sent to schools and universities on I.O.D.E. scholarships.

"In this way", Mrs. Marshall said, "we have paid tribute to the dead by service to the living.

"Our war work comes first, as time and circumstances demand, and we have made an effort to keep life as normal as it is possible on the home front.

"We are proud of, and pay just tribute to the British people, who so bravely stood alone, united and

Entertainment at All Saints' Church

All Saints' Cathedral junior choir association presented its eleventh annual "Penny Reading" entertainment to a large and appreciative audience in the parish hall Tuesday evening.

An excellent and varied program of choruses, solos, and an instrumental trio were presented by the junior chorus and other young people of the congregation.

A group of girl singers proved very popular. They sang such old favorites as, Empire Song, Within My Heart a Song I Found, Stars of the Summer Night, and Baracarolle.

Betty Youmans, Betty LeMottee, and Frank Williams were soloists on the program and gave splendid performances.

A monologue by Joe Butchart was applauded, as were several numbers by the instrumental trio, composed of Ronald Shean, violin; Phyllis McHaffie, cello; and Vera Freeman, piano.

Staff Sergeant Frank Herman, U.S.A.A.F., popular magician, also entertained.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Daughter's Sacrifice Bad Policy, Unwise

Such a Girl Becomes Dreary Drudge, Unsociable, by Giving Up All Her Spare Time to Care Of Mother or Father

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am the only daughter left at home out of a large family and I have my mother to care for. I am 32 and work all day downtown and, of course, have few amusements. The dull life I lead, with only my mother for company, is getting on my nerves and telling on my temper both at the office and at home.

Now, I do not want to hurt my mother's feelings in any way, but do you think it very selfish of me to go out with my friends occasionally and leave her alone? I do so every once in a while, but I feel so conscience-stricken that it spoils the good time I could have had. I suppose it is the fate of the one left at home to have to care for an old parent, but I do so envy my sisters with their happy homes and children and freedom to go about.

DISCOURAGED.

ANSWER: I think that the most foolish thing that any human being ever does is to enslave herself or himself to another. I do not believe that it is anyone's duty to utterly sacrifice his or her life to another.

In fact, I think that sacrifice is nearly always futile and that it often or does more harm than good. This is nearly always the case when children give up everything for their parents. Nine times out of ten it would have been better, even for the parents, if they had gone on and lived their own lives and carried out their own plans.

This will certainly happen in your particular case if you let your mother monopolize you so that you cut all pleasure and amusement out of your life and become nothing but a dreary drudge. You will become a peevish and nervous that you will be hard to live with and most likely you will lose your job, because employers do not like to have irritable people who are hard to get along with around them. And you will end up in nervous prostration.

Of course, your mother wants your companionship and she does not realize that she is being selfish, because she does not dream that you are as interested in hearing her twice-told tales as she is in hearing the fresh news that you bring in. Nor do the old, whose interest in the outside world is little, ever understand why young people want to go out and dance and do the things that they don't want to do.

But in this matter you have to save yourself. So why not tell your mother that you are getting stale and nervous spending all of your time at home, and that you must have two or three evenings out a week in order to keep you chirped up and peppy?

And what about those sisters taking their turn in entertaining Mother? If they live near you, why don't you wish off one evening a week on them and tell Mary that a must come and sit with Mother on Tuesday night, and Sally on Thursday night, and Jane on Saturday night? Or, if they live away, write and tell them that Mother is their mother just as much as she is your mother, and that it is up to them to invite her for a nice, long visit and give you a rest. There is no reason why one child should be the family goat.

SUPERIOR WIFE BAD

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Is a girl of 24 really in love if she feels embarrassed by the looks and slow ways of the man she is engaged to, even though he is dear and kind and worships the ground she walks on? Do you think this couple will be happily married when the girl feels herself superior to the man?

BUD.

Answer: I don't think that it makes for the happiness of any couple for the wife to feel herself superior to the husband. Women like to look up to their husbands and husbands like to look down on their wives, so the arrangement is mutually satisfactory. But it is quite otherwise if the wife condescends to her husband and is always criticizing and correcting his manner and his grammar and his pronunciation.

You often see a man married to a dowdy woman who doesn't know how to dress and who murders the King's English and who is awkward and ill at ease in company, and he never seems to be embarrassed at his wife's lapses or to mind them. But a woman writhes when her husband looks provincial, or acts like a boob, or when he voices ignorant opinions.

LAZINESS

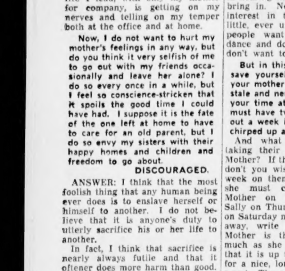

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is a fine man and he treats me with kindness and consideration, but he is very careless about his appearance. He wears soiled linen, never shaves, won't bathe, won't care for his nails, in short, is utterly slovenly. I feel that he should be neat and clean if only for the sake of his business. I have tried appealing to his vanity, getting angry and nagging, but nothing does any good. How can he be cured?

WORRIED.

Answer: Slovenliness is nothing but the ultimate expression of laziness. Your husband neglects the care of his person because he is too idolent and shiftless to make the effort to keep clean. And I fear laziness is an incurable vice.

Certainly a slouchy, slovenly man has small chance in business these days, and he would probably brace up and wash up if a few of his customers would tell him that they would not deal with him unless he became more sanitary-looking.

As far as the clothes are concerned, you can manage by following the example of a woman in a plight similar to yours. Every night when her husband went to bed she removed all the clothes he had worn and put fresh linen, a newly pressed suit and polished shoes in their stead. It being no more trouble to put on the fresh clothes than the soiled ones, the lazy man donned the glad raiment and was well-dressed.

This pleasing tie of pineapple crochet and colorful embroidery is both new and smart. Note the varied effects you can get with the same crochet design.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

Today's hand from the Eastern Tournament probably will be talked about for years to come. Some time ago I wrote up a hand played at Clubs by Tobias Stone and Alvin Roth, a hand on which they could make six or seven hearts. Well, I guess our soldier boy Stone is allergic to clubs. Here is another disaster that he encountered.

Duplicate—None vul.

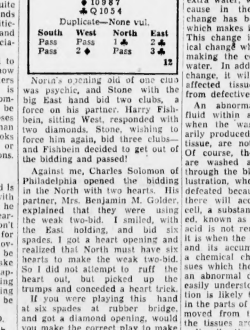

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1♠	2♣

Norna's opening bid of one club was psychic, and Stone with the big East hand laid two clubs, a force on his partner. Harry Fishbein, sitting West, responded with two diamonds. Stone, wishing to force him again, bid three clubs, and Fishbein decided to get out of the bidding and passed!

Against me, Chess Solomon of Philadelphia opened the bidding in the North with two hearts. His partner, Mrs. Benjamin M. Golder, explained that they were using the weak two-bid. I smiled, with the East holding, and bid six spades. I got a heart opening and realized that North must have six hearts to make the weak two-bid, but I did not attempt to ruff the heart out, but picked up the trumps and conceded a heart trick.

If you were playing this hand at six spades at rubber bridge, and got a diamond opening, would you make the correct play to make the contract? You must cash the ace of hearts and immediately lead a small heart.

We all have often heard the old saying that Chinese doctors are paid only as long as they keep their patients well and in good health and that all pay ceases when the patient gets sick. This history of Chinese medicine shows no such practice among these people, either in modern or ancient times. As in all countries, it is the sick who employ doctors and pay them. If the patient dies, then the question of getting the pay is another matter but the relatives usually fork up the money. It is too bad that doctors are not paid to keep us from getting sick, rather than to get us well after we are already ill. Modern medicine is moving in this direction, but it's not a Chinese custom.

Swelling of the ankles is not a disease, but only a symptom. The medical term for the accumulation of water in the tissues of any part is certainly one of the most interesting studies in the entire field of pathology.

It must be remembered that the living cells at all times contain a normal quantity of water and this amount will remain constant within certain variations. The easiest way to consider the approximate amount of water in the cell as to say that the cell is about eighty per cent water. When the percentage of water contained in the tissues rises above eighty, the tissue is said to have become edematous. The accurate control of the amount of water kept in the body is maintained so carefully that the eighty per cent figure I have just quoted will remain constant over a period of years and no abnormal variation will occur. When the cell begins to soak up too much water and to hold that extra water, we must look for the cause in the cell itself. Some change has been brought about which makes it absorb extra water. This change is generally a chemical change which has the effect of making the cell hold too much water. In addition to the chemical change, it will be found that the affected tissue is also suffering from defective circulation.

An abnormal accumulation of fluid within a tissue may be due when the waste materials ordinarily produced by the cells of that tissue, are not properly removed. Of course, these waste materials are washed away from the cell through the bloodstream. As an illustration, when the circulation is defeated because of heart disease, there will accumulate within the cell, a substance normally produced, known as carbonic acid. The acid is not removed as quickly as it is when the circulation is normal and its accumulation will induce a chemical change in certain tissues which then soak up water to an abnormal degree. It will be easily understood that the circulation is likely to be most defective in the parts of the body farthest removed from the heart; therefore, the tissues around the ankles are ordinarily the ones first affected and the patient may notice a slight swelling of the ankles as one of the early symptoms of heart disease. In the earlier stages, the swelling will appear and disappear and while the ankles are swollen on some days, on other days, the puffiness will be entirely absent. Probably the most common cause of swollen ankles is some form of heart derangement.

However, swelling of the ankles is also common in certain kinds of kidney trouble. Instead of the ankles being affected, the swelling may be localized under the eyes and appear as a slight puffiness of these areas.

The swelling due to an accumulation of fluid will cause a change in appearance of the skin, which appears to be stretched too tightly and has a glossy look. Upon pressure with the finger the skin will pit and the dent will then remain for some little time afterward.

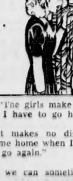

Inasmuch as swelling of the ankles is only a symptom, it is necessary that the patient secure a thorough examination in order that a correct diagnosis may be secured. The underlying cause must be ascertained and I therefore strongly advise an examination in every case of swelling of the ankles.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Points for Parents

Ans. A: "I asked you over this afternoon because our daughters are friends and I thought it might be easier for all of them and us if we agree on some general rules."

Daughter: "The girls make fun of me when I have to go home early."

Mother: "It makes no difference. You come home when I say or you can't go again."

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It may be taken for granted that despite good habits of sleep there will come a time when the child will balk at going to bed. He wants to stay up because others in the family are up. He wants to stay up because he wants to, no better reason than that.

Because this time arrives coincident with the child's capacity to climb out of bed, regardless of keeping him there may be impossible. The headstrong child can pop out of bed almost as quickly as he is put in. And then the irritated mother resorts to painful punishments, about all she gets is an hysterical child unable to sleep at his dinner, or else cannot settle down to sleep after his violent, emotional upset.

First of all, when this time arrives, every mother should be very critical of the child's whole day, including diet and naps and play. Is he getting all the sleep he needs at this particular age? Is he getting too long an afternoon nap so he is unable to go to sleep at his regular bedtime? Is he going without any rest or sleep so that he is wakewasher tired and peppery enough? Is he playing violently at bedtime so he is exhilarated and unable to settle down after it?

With all of these questions answered satisfactorily, she may then set the stage for the child's going to bed in a dramatic and impressive manner. Make a story of going to bed about a little boy—or girl—who strangely enough has the same name as her little boy.

This story-book Joe does all the things which, miraculously enough, are done by her little Joe. He climbs the stairs, he takes off his suit and puts it on a chair, he removes his shoes, he puts his hose in the laundry bag and gets a fresh pair for morning. He washed his face and hands and teeth, he finds his pyjamas and puts them on all by himself. He gets his Panda or Teddy-bear or large doll and puts it in bed. Then he gets right beside him and then he pulls down the blankets and crawls into his little crib, too.

Then, of course, this mythical Joe kisses his mother, says his little prayer and turns over and goes to sleep. Told in exactly this way each night, with the finale the same, should hypnotize the child into a personal repetition of it, right up to the moment when he turns over and goes to sleep. And don't be discouraged if it doesn't happen the first or second time. Give it a chance to work.

Our new leaflet, "Diet From One to Two Years," can be used to check the child's own diet for mistakes. Send a 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope together with your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

War Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX

After experimenting with hundreds of recipes using soya grits and flour, the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics has released a free pamphlet on soya cooking "As you like it." Here are two samples.

SOYA MEAT BALLS

One-half pound ground beef, ¾ cup soya grits naixed with ¾ cup water, ¼ cup soft bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons onion pulp, 1½ teaspoons salt, pepper.

Mix ingredients together well and form into small balls or cakes. Pan-broil slowly in a little fat until browned lightly, then serve. Or, put the cooked meat balls into a baking dish with cooked macaroni or spaghetti. Add tomato or brown sauce and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

SCRAMBLED EGG-VEGETABLE ROLL WITH SOYA

Three eggs, 3 tablespoons water, ⅝ cup soft bread crumbs, 1/3 cup soya flour mixed with ⅓ cup water, ⅝ cup drained cooked peas, snap beans or other vegetables, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper.

Add the 3 tablespoons of water to the eggs and beat until light and thick. Combine bread crumbs, soya-water mixture, vegetable and seasoning. Fold gently into the beaten egg. Pour into a little fat in a hot frying pan and cook slowly until the egg browns. Roll and serve.

BROWN SAUCE

Into 1 tablespoon or meat drippings, blend 1 tablespoon of flour, 2 tablespoons of soya flour, ½ teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper. Add 1 cup of meat juice or broth slowly and stir and cook until the sauce thickens slighlty.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Stewed prunes in orange juice, corn flakes, milk and sugar, raisin toast, butter, coffee, milk.

Lunch: Scrambled egg-vegetable roll with soya, enriched bread, butter, apple sauce cake, tea, milk.

Dinner: Soya meat balls, brown sauce, barsley, new potatoes, grilled tomatoes, whole wheat bread, butter, radishes, caramel custard, coffee, milk.

Provincial Chapter, I.O.D.E. Raises $124,460 for War Work

The sum of $124,460 was raised for war work by Alberta Chapters of the I.O.D.E., during the last year, it was announced by the secretary, Mrs. W. Stanley Ross, at the Wednesday morning session of the 24th annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter.

The convention, which opened Tuesday evening at the Macdonald hotel, is continuing throughout Wednesday and Thursday.

In addition to the above mentioned sum which was raised for war work, Mrs. Ross said that chapters raised $85,712 for general funds. The Frank Oliver Chapter, Edmonton, takes second place this year for the amount of money raised, with $15,397, and the Ft. Brisebois Chapter, Calgary, was first with $28,335.

The Dr. F. H. Mewburn Chapter at Lethbridge has the largest membership, with 88 members. New chapters welcomed during the year were the Jessie Horton Cousins primary chapter of Medicine Hat; the Susan Buchan Primary Chapter of Edmonton; the Wing Commander Howard Hlatchford Junior Chapter of Edmonton, and the Ortona Primary Chapter of Olds.

RESOLUTIONS

Several resolutions were passed during the past year, Mrs. Ross said. The most important was one which asked the Dominion government to make it an offence to sell or lease land to the Hutterites. As a result, a new provincial act was passed by the Alberta Legislature which makes such an action an offence.

Mrs. Robert Kirkpatrick, reporting for the Junior chapter, said that there were 13 such chapters in Alberta when the year opened but during the following months two chapters were granted primary status and a new chapter was formed. The members raise their money by sponsoring dances, holding raffles and sales, etc. They do much war work including knitting, selling war stamps, etc.

Mrs. R. A. G. White gave a report on organizing secretary, telling of the various chapters which have been raised from the junior to the primary status, and those which have re-organized because of older members leaving.

An increase of more than 1,000 subscriptions was obtained to the I.O.D.E. magazine, "Echoes," it was announced by Mrs. R. N. Glover. She said that word of this increase was received in a letter from the head Echoes secretary. Alberta had 1,702 subscribers last year, and has 1,743 subscribers this year, a gain of 41.

Women Work With Lumber

Putting the glass in the sash, operating the cut-off saws, operating the small sash and door machine, nailing together window frames, and putting screen wire on doors are the jobs of 20 women employed by the W. H. Clark Lumber Company in Edmonton.

A. J. Brown, president and general manager of the company for the past 30 years, says "on the whole I am satisfied with the work of the women. Absenteeism is the only fault I find with the women in these jobs formerly done by men, who are overseas on active service."

The women work eight hours a day and in the afternoon take ten minutes off for tea, which they were having when the reporter arrived.

NO FRICTION

Mr. Brown said that the former employees as they return from active service will take over their former jobs but under stress of building after the war, he would not hesitate to employ women again. Mr. Brown finds the women work along with the men on the jobs and that there is no friction between them.

During the last war this lumber company employed a dozen women who according to Mr. Brown were most satisfactory on the jobs.

The women whom the reporter chatted with were most enthusiastic about their various jobs and each one said, "I love the work".

Mrs. Margaret Hanlon, whose husband was killed in Italy last week, has one son, two years of age, and she is in the glazing room.

MACHINE HAND

Miss Lea Briere is a machine hand in the sash department and has been with the company for 18 months. Mrs. Beatrice Bevins' husband is in the army and she is a machine operator on the cut-off saw. Mrs. Margaret Gladmon is a widow with two daughters and her work is in the door department.

Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, whose husband is in Italy, has two children and her work is a sash machine operator.

Mrs. Alexander Demchuk has one child. She has been a machine operator in the sash department for the past year. Miss Mary Kozak is a Canadian Ukrainian and for two years has been a moulding machine operator.

Role of British Women Growing

By MARGARET ECKER

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—Just as the last war gave women the vote, this war is bringing them into the fore as equals in many types of ability to men.

The job British women have done in the services replacing men is the best ammunition the feminists have in their fight for complete equality of the sexes.

Every day there are fresh stories of their successes and of the growing role of women in British public life.

Women have at last been admitted to British schools of medicine. It has been announced that five per cent of newly admitted solicitors each year now are women.

A woman, Frances Bedford, was recently elected a Fellow of the Royal Aeronautical Society, the second to attain this honor. Letitia Chitty, research worker at Imperial College, achieved the honor for the first time 10 years ago. Miss Bedford is senior scientific officer at the Royal Aircraft establishment.

Church Guild Planning Tea For Saturday

A tea, proceeds of which are to be devoted to replenishing sanctuary appointments of the Cathedral church of All Saints, is being held by the Sanctuary Guild of All Saints on Saturday in the parish hall.

Mrs. W. F. Barfoot will receive with Mrs. Frank Ford, Mrs. A. M. Tresdall and Mrs. George Mowat.

During the afternoon the following ladies will pour: Mrs. Looby, Mrs. A. H. Petch, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Greenfield, Mrs. W. A. Griesbach, Mrs. A. Morris, Mrs. A. Card, Mrs. R. P. Lefroy, Mrs. Vernon Barford and Mrs. H. Story.

Members of the Guild will be serving. A musical program has been arranged.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Little have as their guest, their son, PO. Meldrum Little.

Miss Yvonne Cyre and Miss Marjorie Smith have taken up residence in Fort William.

BOLEROS GAIN POPULARITY

Waistcoats and boleros bid for top popularity honors in the New York spring collections. The red waistcoat-styled suit by Fox-Brownie at left features contrasting lapels, open neckline and matched accessories. The cutaway bolero at the right, a popular Patullo model, is bright green wool over a navy crepe, with poppy and lily-of-the-valley corsage.

8,763 Men Entertained

Mrs. John Bartleman, chairman of the Navy, Army and Wings Club reported 8,763 servicemen and 192 servicewomen were entertained during March and that an electric sign had been installed at the door of the club, at the meeting of the Air Force Mothers' Auxiliary in the club rooms, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. T. E. Pinch, convener of comforts has turned in 57 pairs of socks to be sent to the men on the North West Staging Route.

Mrs. J. A. Clark and her committee reported that hospital visits had been made.

For March, 154 hostesses for canteen work were supplied by Mrs. A. M. Eager. The other secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. Arthur reported $5 was donated to the club to buy writing paper. The Women's Musical Club made a donation.

LETTERS WRITTEN

Letters of condolence were written to air force mothers as shown in the report from Mrs. Eager's desk. A report of work done at the information desk was given by Mrs. G. S. Lindsay. Stamp sales for March amounted to $8,500. More than 200 hostess cards were sent to relatives of servicemen and servicewomen from the club. Two housekeeping suites were found for families of servicemen. Thirty-five dance cards have been filled.

Transportation was arranged for 12 Australians to Sunshine Ski Camp. Plans were completed for the tea to be held in the Navy, Army and Wings Club on April 25. Mrs. Hugh Nash has charge of arrangements. Letters of thanks were received from men in the north for Christmas parcels received and home baked cookies and cake from the auxiliary. Flt.-Lt. McLaren, chaplain on the North West Staging Route, recently showed slides to the servicemen and servicewomen at the club.

The Air Force Mothers co-operate with Flt.-Lt. McLaren in shopping for the men stationed in the north. One of the recent lists of wanted articles included an A.C. W.E. cook book, a used electric iron, pictures for the rooms the men occupy and victrola records. Among the favorites mentioned were "Blue Danube," Danny Boy," "Rose of Tralee," and any of John McCormack's recordings.

14 Women in British House Are Clever, Able Politicians

By MARGARET ECKER

LONDON, April 12.—(CP)—The 14 women who sit in the British house of commons aren't figureheads or mere mouthpieces for their parties. Most of them are eloquent speakers and political power houses.

Prime Minister Churchill found this out the other day when the amendment to the education bill introduced by Mrs. Cazalet Kier, Conservative member, sent his administration down to defeat—by one vote—for the first time since its election. This defeat led the prime minister to demand—and receive— a vote of confidence.

The amendment, significantly, demanded equal pay for women teachers.

British women take a much more aggressive part in the government's business than do their Canadian counterparts in Ottawa where only occasionally is a woman's voice heard in battle. The women at Westminster spurred on by a belligerent and large feminist group throughout Britain, fight unceasingly for greater equality between men and women and for the extension of legislation that guards the welfare of women and children.

FORGET SEX ANGLE

But some political observers point out that these same 14 women are at their best when they forget the sex angle and interest in the business of general politics.

A London political columnist said of them: "The women who now sit in the house alone justify the decision made in 1918 to give the women the vote and permit them to sit in the house of commons. In proportion you would not find such a worthy percentage among the men M.P.'s.

"They are almost all first rate speakers. . . They take the trouble to read up on the subject on hand, whereas a great many men speak out of their heads and with less knowledge than these women.

"The government is forced to respect them as politicians. And they are a match for any male member in debate."

Navy Mothers Announce Bridge, Whist Party to Be Held May 10

A bridge and whist party will be held in the Memorial hall Wednesday afternoon, May 10, with Mrs. W. F. Howard as convener, it was reported at the Navy Mothers' Club meeting in the Memorial Hall.

New members welcomed at the meeting were Mrs. John Peel, Mrs. W. T. Wotherspoon, Mrs. A. J. Mainwaring, Mrs. Bert Worsfold and Mrs. L. Younger.

The visiting sailors were the Messrs. Hunt, Bround and Melnyk.

Mrs. T. W. Hoyer requested that garments given out since January 1. She appealed for more volunteer knitters.

Mrs. W. T. Howard reported on the Navy ball, which she said was a success.

Mrs. A. Malden reported that the April Navy Notes are now on sale at Mike's newsstand.

Sale Of Timber By Public Tender

1. PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Director of Forestry, Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton, will offer for sale by public tender at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday, April 25th, 1944, in the rotunda 5th floor, Administration Building, 109th Street, Edmonton, Alberta, the right to cut timber under license on Berth No. 7206, comprising:

The North half and Legal Subdivisions 5, 6, 7 and 8 of Section 14; the North half, South West quarter and Legal Subdivisions 2, 7 and 8 of Section 15; Legal Subdivisions 1, 8 and 9 and the East halves of Legal Subdivisions 2 and 7 of Section 16; the South half, North East quarter and Legal Subdivisions 11, 12 and 14 of Section 22; the South West quarter of Section 23 in Township 55, Range 20, West of the 5th Meridian, an area of 3.144 square miles, more or less.

2. On the above lands there is estimated to be green spruce and pine suitable for the manufacture of approximately two hundred thousand railway ties or other forest products.

3. The license will be awarded to the person tendering the highest rate of dues on Number One railway ties. No tender of a rate of dues of less than ten cents per Number One railway tie will be considered. All other products of the forest on the Timber Berth shall be subject to the payment of dues at the rates prescribed in Form "E" of the Timber Regulations. If the tendered price accepted is in excess of the rate set forth in Form "E" the dues payable on sawn lumber and on railway ties of other grades shall be commensurate with the price set out in the sale contract.

4. Tenders for the timber berth must be enclosed in a sealed container and submitted by the tenderer in person or through his duly authorized agent who must present his authorization with the tender and such authorization must be sufficient to empower the said agent to make application for a license in behalf of the tenderer and to bind such tenderer to full and complete compliance with the terms and conditions of sale.

5. Tenders must be accompanied by a deposit of $2,100.00 in cash, marked cheque on a chartered bank, certified treasury branch order cheque or certified non-negotiable transfer voucher payable to the Provincial Treasurer. The deposit made by an unsuccessful tenderer shall be returned to him and in the case of the person to whom the timber berth is awarded the deposit shall be retained as a guarantee of compliance with the terms of sale.

6. Every tender to purchase the timber berth shall include an offer on behalf of the person making the same to pay to the Crown in addition to all dues and taxes reserved or imposed by Statute the sum of $97.20, being the cost incurred in cruising and advertising the timber berth.

7. The timber berth shall be subject to an annual rental of $10.00 per square mile or fraction thereof, and one-half the cost incurred by the Crown in guarding the timber from fire shall be defrayed by the licensee.

8. The person to whom the timber berth is awarded must immediately sign a contract agreeing to carry out the terms and conditions of sale and shall at the same time apply for a license for the current year paying the costs incurred in cruising and advertising, together with the rental, license fee, fireguarding charges and timber areas tax.

9. The License shall be for a term not exceeding one year and shall be renewable from year to year for a term of nine years while there is on the timber berth a sufficient quantity of the kind and dimensions of timber specified in the license.

10. The cutting of timber on the Timber Berth shall be subject to the cutting of green timber to a diameter limit of not less than eleven inches, measured eighteen inches from the ground. In all other respects cutting will be subject to the Regulations Governing the Granting of Yearly Licenses to cut Timber on Provincial Lands or to any regulations that may be established hereafter in substitution of such regulations.

11. The Minister may, in his discretion, reject any or all tenders made for the purchase of the timber berth.

12. Further particulars may be obtained on application to the Director of Forestry, Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton.

OUT OUR WAY

THE LINE OF LEAST RESISTANCE

Fear Outbreak Disease Among People of North

Fears that an outbreak of disease among the native population in the Arctic district at and immediately south of Aklavik, have been aroused here by a message from Fort McPherson, asking that sulfa drug serum be shipped there.

The request was received by C.P. Air Lines officials from their agent at Fort McPherson, a trading post about 200 miles south of Aklavik, 1,400 miles north of Edmonton in the Mackenzie district.

The message did not state what the serum was needed for.

Some time ago an inquiry had been received from Ottawa by air lines officials here concerning the next flight to Aklavik. Ottawa had then stated it was planned to send serum on the plane.

ASKING INFORMATION

CPA officials here have sent a message to their Fort McPherson agent asking for more information concerning the request for serum.

No other reports concerning sickness in the far north have been received here as far as could be ascertained.

Last plane for Aklavik of the winter flying season will leave on April 13.

Some months ago serum was flown to Aklavik after a serious outbreak of influenza had caused several deaths among the Indian population of the town and district.

Robbers Cornered On Chicago Tram Are Shot to Death

CHICAGO, April 12.—(AP)—Two men identified by police as robbers were shot to death by detectives in a gun battle on a crowded Western Avenue street car at the height of the rush hour last night.

Detectives James Woulfe and John R. Mayer cornered the fugitives after they abandoned a stolen automobile and boarded the car.

As the detectives approached their quarry, one drew a gun. As he pulled the trigger Mayer shoved his arm aside. And the bullet hit Woulfe in the leg.

Mayer then shot the man several times, killing him. He shot the second man to death when the latter drew a knife and lunged at him.

Prisoner Escapes From "Fort" Jail

Norman Letendre, 38-year-old Halfbreed prisoner, escaped from Fort Saskatchewan jail late Tuesday afternoon, according to city police. He apparently walked off the place, unnoticed, it was stated.

Letendre was described as being five feet nine inches tall, of stocky build, wearing prison clothing.

Export Business Dominates Trade

WINNIPEG, April 12—(CP)—Export wheat traders dominated grain dealings today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Buyers representing the United States Commodity Credit Corporation purchased 2,000,000 bushels of Nos. 2 and 3 Northern while United Kingdom agents took 400,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern.

Trade reports also said 350,000 bushels of wheat in the form of flour were taken by the British West Indies.

Influenced by a reported sale of 2,000,000 bushels of rye to the United States futures in that commodity went to new seasonal highs.

May reached $1.34¼, July $1.33⅝ and October $1.30⅞.

Buying by eastern interests, commissioned houses and locals pushed contracts to their new peaks. However, profit-taking at the high points eased values near the close.

May ended the session ⅜ higher 1.33⅜, July ½ higher 1.32½, October ¼ higher 1.30.

Toronto Is Hit by Sudden Snowstorm

TORONTO, April 12. — (CP) — Toronto workers trudged home through three inches of slush last night after a sudden heavy snowstorm which turned to rain. More than 100 aircraft from No. 4 Air Observers' School, R.C.A.F., at London, Ont., were caught in the storm, and two were forced to make emergency landings.

More Hope For Priorities on Tb. Sanatorium

Possibility of beginning construction this year on the proposed tuberculosis sanatorium on the University of Alberta campus appeared evident in Edmonton Wednesday, when Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, announced that word has been received that prospects are better for the necessary priorities.

Plans to build the Tb. hospital were first announced by Premier William Aberhart, in January of 1943. The building, to house 300 patients, is to cost $500,000, which is to be provided out of the province's $2,000,000 post-war reconstruction fund.

Requests for priorities were refused last year when they were applied for by the province.

"Prospects are now better on the priorities needed for building materials and equipment," Mr. Fallow said. "We have renewed our applications for them."

Once the necessary authority has been granted, work will be started on the sanitorium immediately. It is estimated it will take a year to complete the structure.

It was announced in the 1944 budget speech in the Legislature that the University of Alberta's power plant was being enlarged to take care of demands for heat and power by the proposed sanitorium, as well as the new wing on University Hospital, now under construction.

Chicago's Prices Slightly Lower

CHICAGO, April 12—(AP)—Prices in the grain pits worked slightly lower today, influenced by prospects of expanded corn shipments with improving weather, good development of the winter wheat crorp, rumors that efforts will be made to bring Canadian rye into the country and news dispatches asserting government officials were discussing the possibility of importing corn from the Argentine.

Despite the generally bearish implications of most news items, the market showed no tendency to break. Cash demand for all grains, except rye, continued strong.

The close wheat was unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.70¾, oats were unchanged to ⅜ lower, July 78¾, rye was down ½-1 cent, May $1.30, and barley was unchanged to ⅜ lower, July $1.25.

Wheat: May 1.73⅜, July 1.70¾, Sept. 1.68½, Dec. 1.68.

Oats: May 82, July 78¾, Sept. 75⅜, Dec. 75⅝.

Rye: May 1.30, July 1.28¼-⅜, Sept. 1.27-1.27⅛, Dec. 1.27⅛-¾.

Barley: May 1.28, July 1.25, Sept. 1.20⅝.

Wheat Stocks Total 331,487,507 Bushels

OTTAWA, April 12.—(CP)—The Dominion bureau of statistics reported yesterday stocks of Canadian wheat in store or in transit in North America at midnight April 6 totalled 331,487,507 bushels, compared with 331,435,284 March 31 and 455,807,513 on the corresponding date of last year. Stocks included 319,073,710 bushels in Canadian positions and 12,413,797 bushels in United States positions on April 6.

Farmers in the three prairie provinces marketed 4,531,433 bushels of wheat during the week ended April 6, compared with 7,405,071 in the previous month. During the elapsed portion of the crop year which began last Aug. 1 marketings totalled 203,314,909 bushels, compared with 178,848,504 in the similar period of the previous crop year.

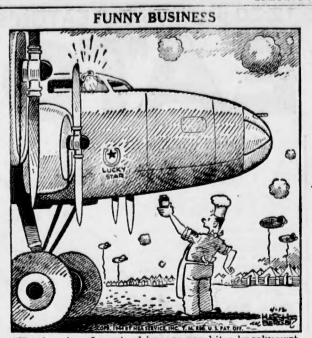

During the week ended April 6 the following quantities of coarse grains were delivered from farms in the prairie provinces, with totals for the previous week in brackets: oats, 2,820,621 (3,828,974) bushels; barley, 1,291,934 (1,567,153); rye, 512 (85,917); flaxseed, 21,054 (40,452).

Veteran Airman Gets D.F.C., Bar

HALIFAX, April 12.—(CP)—The D.F.C. and Bar and operational wings were presented yesterday to FO. L. P. S. Bing of Regina and Charlottetown, who helped shoot down 11 enemy planes in the Mediterranean theatre before he became a bomber pilot at nearby Eastern Passage. Air Vice-Marshal G. O. Johnson, head of the Eastern Air Command, made the presentation at the Eastern Passage station.

I.O.D.E. War Service Work Is Reviewed

undaunted, at the beginning of this war. We are proud that we come from that stock."

The Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines in the provincial government, represented Premier Ernest C. Manning at the meeting, and brought greeting to delegates from the government. He said, "We have a province to be proud of, and we are justly happy to have I.O.D.E. members from all parts of Alberta, meeting in our capital city. As mothers, wives and citizens of Alberta, you have a great responsibility, and through the I.O.D.E. you are doing a work which is vastly important to the young, and old, servicemen and servicewomen."

IMMIGRANTS NEEDED

Also speaking for the Hon. Solon E. Low, who was unable to attend, Mr. Tanner stressed the importance of help to immigrants. "I realize that Canada needs immigrants," he said, "men and women who will speak our language, accept our way of life, and make this country their home. We must help them all we can to become adjusted to a new atmosphere, and to become 'assimilated'."

He also stressed the great importance of health and rated it more necessary than education. He urged the members to make it their responsibility to see that health services and education are made available to the people.

His Worship, Mayor J. W. Fry welcomed delegates in the name of the city. "In this the fifth year of war, it is wonderful that your work is progressing so well. The comforts our men are receiving on all fronts is the result of the work of the order here and throughout the Dominion," he said.

DELEGATES WELCOMED

Mrs. R. E. Jones welcomed the out-of-town delegates on behalf of the municipal chapter, of which she is regent.

Mrs. A. W. Shaw, regent of the Major Fane chapter at Vegreville, replied on behalf of the out-of-town visitors. Briefly in terms of individual efforts can our future efforts be measured. We must instill unity into our chapters, and keep in mind the future of our country and Empire," she said.

The Royal Alexandra Nurses' Choral club gave selections, under the direction of Alex Kevan. Miss Jean Reily was soloist, and Miss Lucie Muir was accompanist.

A buffet luncheon was served later, when members and guests gathered in the main dining room.

AMONG DELEGATES

Among the out-of-town delegates to register are: Mrs. J. D. Morrison, Mrs. E. L. Morris, Mrs. H. J. Patton, Mrs. R. A. Lindsay, Mrs. J. B. Colborne, Miss Ella Weir, Medicine Hat Mrs. R. W. Manley, Wetaskiwin; Mrs. G. S. Brown, Miss N. Walker, Miss Jean E. Glover, Mrs. Robert Laing, Lethbridge; Mrs. J. J. Holden, Hythe; Mrs. J. C. Thde, Killam; Mrs. W. O. Turner, Hanna; Mrs. P. W. Pratt, Lacombe; Mrs. A. M. Pearson, Pincher Creek; Mrs. A. R. C. Dunning, Nanton; Mrs. H. J. Nuren, Rocky Mountain House; Mrs. B. Hobson, Blairmore; Mrs. J. H. Weir, Drumheller; and Mrs. B. E. Canniff, Calgary.

Saskatoon C. C. F. Candidates Chosen

SASKATOON, April 12.—(CP)—John H. Sturdy, former secretary of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation, now overseas in connection with educational work for the Canadian armed forces, and Arthur Stone, railway shopman, were chosen last night as C.C.F. candidates to contest the two seats in Saskatoon city at the next Saskatchewan general election.

School Teacher, On Suspension, Before Board

Explanation of circumstances leading up to her suspension after a complaint regarding racial discrimination had been made by a student at Victoria high school, was given by Miss E. Embree, Victoria teacher, who appeared before the Edmonton Public School board at a meeting Tuesday night.

Miss Embree gave a detailed account of the incident stating that she told the pupil "his nationality was against him." She further stated that she "became very angry" at the manner in which she was interviewed about the affair by the principal, C. O. Hicks, and the superintendent of schools, R. S. Sheppard, and that she did not feel she had been given a fair chance to state her side of the case.

She said that when she visited the principal's office, Mr. Sheppard proceeded to read a statement of the complaint to her without asking her to first make a statement of her case. She refused to continue the interview and left the room.

The chairman of the board pointed out to Miss Embree that there was nothing unusual in the procedure of stating the complaint first and discussing the matter afterwards. Miss Embree refused again to discuss the matter when asked to visit the office of the superintendent.

The resolution suspending Miss Embree was passed by the board at the last meeting upon the recommendation of the management and health committee, who stated that in view of her insubordination and refusal to discuss the matter, also her refusal to apologize for the incident she should be suspended from teaching.

The board thanked Miss Embree for her information and stated they would discuss the matter further.

A request for additional 168 lockers at Westmount school made by the Mountglen Home and School association was referred to the property committee.

Report of attendance in the Edmonton Public schools for March, made by Mr. Sheppard showed an increase of 224 pupils, or 14,211 as compared with 13,987 during the same month last year.

Dr. G. E. Swallow, medical inspector of schools reported that during March there were 275 complete physical examinations, 125 medical examinations made by the doctors and 419 medical inspections by the nurses in city schools.

VICTORY IS IN THE AIR. The promise of it blossoms on every battlefront. But don't let us fool ourselves by evading the grim reality of the cost and sacrifice that await every one of us before this victory is achieved.

We at home can no more sit back and relax than can our boys now advancing on the long and bitter road to Berlin. We must back them up. We must maintain the flow of vital war materials. We must save every life possible by doing everything in our power to help shorten the war.

We can win only if every Canadian plays his or her role for all it is worth . . . counting all things less than the lasting freedom and security which Victory will bring ourselves and our children.

Soon Canada's Sixth Victory Loan will give you the opportunity to live up to the privilege of being a free Canadian . . . untouched by occupation and slavery . . . unhampered by fear . . . and living in cities undamaged by shells or bombs. And when this time comes buy Victory Bonds as you never have bought before.

MY DAY

WASHINGTON—We have been back in Washington just a week and two days, and every day I have been looking for spring. The forsythia bush on the White House lawn shows a delicate yellow, the magnolia blossoms are faintly pink, and many other shrubs suggest that the time has come for them to burst into bloom. But the other night we had snow and a sudden clap of thunder, and I begin to agree with one of my friends who wrote me that if we could have two days of the same season, her cold might disappear.

The president hasn't been well, but he is getting steadily better. He has had bronchitis and he has been weary, but I think it is probably as much the weariness that assails everyone who grasps the full meaning of war, as it is a physical ailment. One cannot quite get over it. One can only accommodate oneself to the burden and pray for the day when the war will end victoriously.

I spent a day in New York City and reported to the U.S.O. on the clubs which I visited on my trip. I also saw two plays. One, "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" is a quiet war play which the theatre guild has produced. The original play was by Franze Werfel. The cast is excellent and the dialogue delightful, but the play never stirred me very deeply. It's probably a very good play for the majority of us to see just now. It brings out the important things that we are apt to forget—that the man of action and the man of ideas can and must live in the world together and each has his particular moment of importance in the march of events.

Then I saw Edward Chodorov's play, "Decision." It left me far more unhappy than the other play, though it dealt with just one phase of our home front. This is a phase which many of us know little or nothing about, but which deeply troubles any of us who have even had a glimpse of it. It shows the Fascist side of our communities, and is very frightening, not because few people are aware that it is something we must fight at home. I am delighted that the play is such a success and I particularly congratulate the gentlemen who play the leading parts.

I have spoken on my trip to the National Women's Press Club this week, and also to the business and professional women of the district. In addition, I have enjoyed seeing Mr. W. L. White, who dinted with us the other evening. I've had time to read John Hershey's delightful novel "A Bell for Adano." Let us hope that the Major Jopolos multiply and that the General Marvins disappear from our army!

I visited the draft aid centre of the Civilian War Services Division here the other day and found it most interesting. I feel sure that something similar should be done in any large centre of population. Many draftees need help and information for themselves and their families when they are inducted.
